RRRR-EEZE A'FREEZIN' — Bitter chilled winds tore through Roundtown today as the weather took an abrupt about face from the previous spring-like level to a temperature at the freezing level. Millard Dern and Deena Halstenberg brave the wintry blasts and falling snow which clung to coats and hats of courageous pedestrians and made driving conditions uncertain for many motorists. Judge Guy Cline received a "case" today seeking an injunction against the weather, but refused to take immediate action, preferring to take it under advisement.

Ohio To Continue 'Prevailing Wages' On Contract Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan promised union leaders Tuesday that Ohio's law requiring payment of prevailing wages on all state-funded projects will continue to be enforced.

He said contractors who bid on highway projects had been advised that the prevailing statute remains in effect.

Addressing the Ohio State Building and Construction Trades Council, Gilligan said he regarded President Nixon's suspension of the federal prevailing wage law as sanctioning the hiring of non-union labor on government projects.

"I think it is an open invitation to his cabinet and bureau heads to do business with non-union contractors," the governor said.

Nixon suspended the Davis-Bacon Act last week, reportedly as an anti-inflation step. The law had required contractors to pay "prevailing (or union) wages" on all federal construction jobs.

Gilligan said the presidential order would not be binding in areas where contracts are in effect.

He also questioned whether it was in Nixon's power to set aside an act passed by Congress 40 years ago.

Frank King, president of the Ohio AFL-CIO, told the union leaders Tuesday that labor attorneys in Washington were checking the legality of Nixon's action.

He noted the act could only be suspended by executive order during a national emergency and questioned whether the country was in such a situation.

Most of the trades union leaders attending the Monday and Tuesday council sessions expressed belief the suspension will have a major impact on the industry.

Some thought the President's action was an attempt to break the back of organized labor, but most agreed it would result in lower wages in the industry if the action goes unchallenged.

John Scales, business agent for Local 423, suggested a massive march on Washington to protest the move. Other leaders proposed firing the president and 19 vice presidents of the National Building Trades Council. These ideas were tabled.

Filibuster Curbs Rejected 3rd Time; Eye Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Filibuster foes of a Senate rules change apparently have succeeded in burying an amendment that would make it easier to end filibusters.

Another week of debate is ahead, and sponsors of the rules revision are ready now to attempt a compromise settlement. But the odds are against them.

"I confess there's not much life left in this proposition, but there's some," Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Tuesday after the Senate refused for a third time to end a 24-day-old rules filibuster.

"Let's not bury the patient yet," Church asked Senate leaders. "Give us another week."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana agreed to that, but no more. So the Senate will vote again next Tuesday on a final petition to limit the rules debate.

The vote Tuesday was 48 to 36 to limit the debate, eight votes short of the two-thirds majority now required to invoke cloture. The second attempt a week earlier failed by the same margin.

Church said 58 of the 100 senators support his proposal to limit debate by a three-fifths vote. Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., suggested the issue be turned over to the Senate Rules Committee.

The scores have been the same for three votes, the score will always be the same," Pastore said.

Church responded, "I'm looking for a hospital, not a morgue."

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, proposed one possible compromise to permit cloture by three-fifths vote, if approved by a majority of both Democrats and Republicans.

Another suggested formula would permit a debate to run for a specified period, perhaps three or five weeks, before the cloture requirement would be eased from two-thirds to three-fifths vote. Yet another would permit debate limitation by a three-fifths margin on legislation but not on rules changes.

House Ends Secret Votes On Amendments

Key Reform Now In Effect For Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the day the House of Representatives catches up with what the British Parliament did 140 years ago and ends secret voting on amendments.

If all goes as expected, the names of House members voting on an amendment will be recorded for the first time in history when they march down the aisle to be counted by tellers.

The recording of teller votes is the key reform in a new package of rules which went into effect with this Congress. There hadn't been a chance to use the new procedure before today.

The issue providing the opportunity is an administration proposal to remove the 4½-per-cent interest ceiling on long-time government bonds. The proposal is tied to a bill raising the debt limit and an amendment will be offered to delete it.

The House considers most legislation while sitting as something called the committee of the whole, a procedural device borrowed from Parliament when Congress was established.

With a simple motion transforming itself into the committee of the whole, the House is able to operate more freely. Debate can be limited, a quorum can be composed of 100 members instead of the 218 required in the House, and such time-consuming procedures as roll calls are prohibited.

Voting on amendments in the committee of the whole is either by voice, by standing and being counted, or by walking past tellers to be counted. After considering a bill, the committee becomes the House again and a roll call can be taken on the bill or on any amendments that were adopted.

There can be no roll call on amendments that were defeated, which is what happens to most, so until now there had been no way of knowing how members voted on such amendments.

The practice of not recording votes in the committee of the whole developed when Parliament was at odds with the king and found it necessary to protect its members by keeping their votes anonymous. The British reformed their system about 1830 to allow recorded teller votes, and at long last the House is following suit.

Planning And Engineering Funds Blocked By Solons Cook, Barnhill

Passage of an ordinance to establish a $10,000 account for planning and engineering within the permissive motor vehicle tax fund was blocked by Councilmen Frank Barnhill and Samuel (Pete) Cook Tuesday.

The ordinance was sought by council's service committee to expedite planning for State Bond Issue I and federal TOPICS programs for the city.

Barnhill contended by appropriating $10,000 for the account, council was giving a "blank check" to the service department to plan whatever they wanted, including "a junket to Cleveland." He said council was "losing control of the purse strings of the city."

Cook objected to the ordinance saying that he was led to believe that the reason for hiring Service Director Atwood Jones was to save the city money on engineering and surveying fees. He contended the service director should do the planning himself.

WHEN told that Jones also had to perform the duties of foreman of the service department, and was too busy to do all the planning, Cook retorted that he was a "high priced foreman."

The two objecting councilmen voted against a suspension of the rules which would have permitted the legislation to be acted on at Tuesday's council meeting.

In seeking the passage of the ordinance, Councilman David Crawford, chairman of the service committee said that action on the Issue I and TOPICS programs was moving fast and they needed the money to begin the engineering studies.

He also pointed out money would be needed for engineering studies at the Atwater Extension and surveys would need to be made for installation of curbs and gutters on Watt St., N. Scioto St. and Half Ave.

Crawford said that work should begin on the projects as quickly as possible and accused Barnhill of deliberately delaying the projects by his action.

He also said council approval (Continued on Page 2)

Fly Freed By Guerrillas

Heart Attack Brings Release

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Freed by his guerrilla kidnappers after a heart attack, American agronomist Claude L. Fly was in "apparently satisfactory condition" today, his attending physician said.

Fly, 64, and Dr. Jorge Dighiero, a heart specialist the Tupamaro guerrillas kidnapped to treat their captive, were found blindfolded in an abandoned truck outside the hospital Tuesday night. Fly, who had been held captive for nearly seven months, was on a stretcher.

The attending physician said Fly suffered a heart attack eight or nine days ago but a cardiogram taken during the night showed no extraordinary symptoms other than those remaining from that attack.

He said the American oil expert probably would remain in the hospital for a month, "the usual period for heart attack cases."

U.S. Ambassador Charles Adair talked briefly with Fly, then told newsmen: "He can't talk with anyone now. He has to rest."

In Fort Collins, Colo., Fly's son John said Secretary of State William P. Rogers telephoned him that his father had been freed. John Fly said that he understood the heart attack was mild, and "except that he's supposed to be all right, we don't know about his condition." Fly's wife was in Fort Collins with their son, and he said they would leave for Montevideo today.

Informants said Dighiero demanded that Fly be hospitalized after he examined him.

A hospital source said the Tupamaros left with the men an electrocardiogram and a record of medical treatment Fly received during captivity. He had just recovered from pneumonia when he was abducted from his laboratory in suburban Montevideo last Aug. 7, and his wife Miriam said at the time that he still required medication. But in several letters to her, Fly reported that he was receiving good treatment and was in good health.

City and county road crews were on the job early this morning attempting to clear all major thoroughfares of winter's precipitation, the first to fall and accumulate since Feb. 8.

Rezoning Hearing Held By Council

Circleville City Council's meeting Tuesday was preceded by a hearing on rezoning of 26 plus acres on the east side of Nicholas Drive owned by Dale Ankrom.

The rezoning is being sought by Kelly and Lemmon Inc., Columbus, a real estate development firm.

The firm is seeking to have a portion of the land rezoned to permit building of apartments and another portion rezoned from R-2 classification to R-3 classification. The R-2 zoning establishes a minimum size of 10,000 square feet in the subdivision and R-3 establishes a minimum size of 7,500 square feet.

Although no objection was voiced to the rezoning for apartments, J. Boyd Stout, developer of Garden City, did object to the rezoning which would permit reduction in the size of the lot.

His objection that it would reduce the value of homes in Garden City and the adjacent Ridgewood Subdivisions was echoed by Dennis Johnson, Donald Greenlee and Larry Stemm, all residents of Garden City Subdivision.

Russell Dawley, spokesman for the developers, noted the preliminary plat of the approximately ten acres involved in the residential classification change contained 40 lots, 17 of which had a minimum frontage of over 70 feet.

He explained that because of increasing real estate costs, the size of the lot needed to be reduced to keep the cost of housing within line with what the buyers were able to pay.

He also said the values of the houses in the proposed subdivision would be comparable to the values of houses in Garden City.

W. P. Yamarick, chairman of Circleville Planning and Zoning Commission, reported that the change in zoning was recommended by the commission.

He said traffic flow onto Nicholas Drive would be regulated by not permitting any homes to face the existing traffic artery. He also noted that plans for apartments had to be approved by planning and zoning commission before construction could start and that a more detailed subdivision plat would have to be approved before construction could start.

He said property values would be protected by requiring larger lots along Nicholas Drive. Council president Joe Bell announced the proceedings of the hearing would be taken under advisement by the members of council. The rezoning ordinance was held for a second reading. Under normal city council procedures an ordinance is read three times unless a three-fourths majority votes for a suspension of the rules.

Ohio High Court To Review Creachbaum Case Decision

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court today agreed to review a lower court decision that quashed conviction of a Fayette County farmer charged in a $1 million check writing scheme.

Thomas L. Creachbaum, 37, was convicted in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court in February 1969, on 18 counts of passing bad checks between two banks. He was sentenced to four to 28 years imprisonment but the conviction was later revised by the District Court of Appeals.

The appellate court said there was no intent to defraud because both banks—First National Bank of Sabina and First National Bank of New Holland—were aware of the scheme.

Creachbaum, according to court records, was overdrawn by $272,897 at the New Holland bank when the Sabina bank quit honoring his checks in 1967.

The total capital and surplus of the New Holland banks at the time was $220,000.

After the reversal, the state appealed to the Supreme Court. In other action, the court ordered Highland County Common Pleas Court to dismiss a 1964 indictment against John G. Daugherty, charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

Daugherty, now an inmate of a federal penitentiary on another charge, said he had been denied a speedy trial. He said he had asked the lower court to take action on the case since he was indicted.

The high court agreed with him and ordered the lower court to remove the detainee against him. It said the lower court was wrong in not answering Daugherty's pleas.

The court refused to hear an appeal from Edward T. Spaulding, an Ohio Penitentiary inmate convicted on three counts of rioting at the institution in 1968.

It also refused to hear an appeal from Robert Summerlin, convicted by a three-judge Huron County Common Pleas Court last year on charges of selling an obscene book. Summerlin had appealed the conviction on grounds there was no hearing prior to the arrest to determine if the book was obscene.

Red Cross Bloodmobile Due Friday

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Circleville 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, at the Community United Methodist Church. This is the second of 10 bloodmobile visits scheduled for Pickaway County in 1971.

The program got off to a fine start in January but everyone's support is needed to reach the quota of 125 pints for this visit. Two area residents have recently required blood and have requested replacement during this visit. They are Charles W. Fullen of 111 Northbridge Road, and Nolan McNichols of Stoutsville. Anyone wishing to donate in their behalf may do so at this visit.

Blood donors that gave blood during the January bloodmobile visit are not eligible to donate this time since the January and March visits were not eight weeks apart. Also, no more than five pints may be donated in a 12 month period.

Red Cross officials urge all eligible donors to participate in the Friday visit and give this reminder: "human blood cannot be manufactured — it must be given."

Roundtown

MUNICIPAL Court Judge Sterling Lamb disagrees with a United States Supreme Court Ruling which says persons cannot be imprisoned merely because they are too poor to pay fines.

According to the judge, over 95 per cent of all traffic violations are punishable by fine only. "The Supreme Court has just given the poor man the license to break the law because he cannot pay the fine," the judge contends. "If a man says he cannot pay his fine, we can no longer place him in jail." Current policy is to allow a person unable to pay, to sit it out in jail at a rate of $10 per day.

The judge sees as one solution a legislative act which would make traffic violations punishable by either fine or suspension of license for a given number of days.

SAMs Fired At Planes Inside South

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today he wished that the North Vietnamese would "soon awaken to the reality and not put us in a situation which forces us to attack them right on their own territory."

The president's statement, issued by the office of his press secretary, added: "in other words, we let the authorities in Hanoi decide by themselves whether or not they want to be attacked by us right in their own territory, which is North Vietnam."

Meanwhile North Vietnam fired surface-to-air missiles into the skies over South Vietnam Tuesday for the first time in the Indochina war, the U.S. Command disclosed, and U.S. sources hinted that there would be new air strikes in retaliation.

The 37-foot-long SAM2 missiles were fired at three U.S. planes supporting the South Vietnamese ground drive to disrupt the Ho Chi Minh trail network in Laos. The U.S. Command said none of the planes was damaged.

South Vietnamese headquarters announced it had thrown 2,000 marines into the Laotian operation to boost its strength across the border to 18,000 men.

Heavy fighting raged today in Laos, at Hill 30, a South Vietnamese post eight miles northwest of the border outpost of Lao Bao. Headquarters said North Vietnamese troops attacked behind a mortar barrage but lost 98 men during a 10-hour fight. A spokesman said 60 of the enemy were killed by artillery and U.S. air strikes. Saigon said it had one man killed and three wounded.

U.S. warplanes roamed over wide areas of Indochina in an intensified campaign to ease pressure on nearly 40,000 South Vietnamese ground troops in Laos and Cambodia. One F105 fighter-bomber escort attacked a SAM site 10 miles north of the demilitarized zone before dawn today when it threatened another flight of U.S. planes bombing along the Ho Chi Minh trail, the U.S. Command said.

Autobahn Is Closed

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany blocked roads in and out of West Berlin today in a resumption of its campaign to break the city's political ties with West Germany.

The Western allies protested to the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin, saying they held the Soviet Union responsible for the tieups and demanding an immediate halt to them.

The situation changed hourly, but early this morning the Communists virtually closed all roads leading to and from West Berlin. Five of the six border crossing points were reported affected, and the sixth could not be reached by telephone.

The harassment was aimed at a three-day meeting of parliamentary leaders of West Germany's Christian Democratic party opening in West Berlin today.

It was the fourth time in three months the Communists have blocked traffic in retaliation for such a political meeting in the city. In January the harassment lasted for five days.

Successor To Hall To Be Named March 10

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A successor to Franklin County Sheriff Stacy Hall, who died last week, is expected to be named March 10 when the county Republican Central Committee meets.

The post is being filled temporarily by the late sheriff's son, Stacy Hall Jr., who reportedly is one of a number of persons interested in the appointment. The term runs until the end of 1972.

Woman Wins Death Suit

CONNERSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — The first damage suit to be tried in the 41-death Richmond explosion of 1968 has resulted in a $250,000 award to a former Richmond woman.

A Fayette Circuit Court jury Tuesday night found in favor of Mrs. Barbara M. Reeves, now of New Hope, Ohio. Mrs. Reeves, whose husband was killed when the explosion erupted in downtown Richmond April 6, 1968, named as defendants Richmond Gas Corp., Heath Survey Consultants Inc., and the estate of Martin Arms Inc., a sporting goods store where the explosion was believed to have originated.

The jury assessed damages only against the gas utility.

Mrs. Reeves' suit, one of 370 filed in the case, asked $750,000. The trial began seven weeks ago.

The total sought by all suits exceeds $28 million.

The two objecting councilmen voted against a suspension of the rules which would have permitted the legislation to be acted on at Tuesday's council meeting.

In seeking the passage of the ordinance, Councilman David Crawford, chairman of the service committee said that action on the Issue I and TOPICS programs was moving fast and they needed the money to begin the engineering studies.

He also pointed out money would be needed for engineering studies at the Atwater Extension and surveys would need to be made for installation of curbs and gutters on Watt St., N. Scioto St. and Half Ave.

Crawford said that work should begin on the projects as quickly as possible and accused Barnhill of deliberately delaying the projects by his action.

He also said council approval (Continued on Page 2)

Rezoning Hearing Held By Council

Circleville City Council's meeting Tuesday was preceded by a hearing on rezoning of 26 plus acres on the east side of Nicholas Drive owned by Dale Ankrom.

The rezoning is being sought by Kelly and Lemmon Inc., Columbus, a real estate development firm.

The firm is seeking to have a portion of the land rezoned to permit building of apartments and another portion rezoned from R-2 classification to R-3 classification. The R-2 zoning establishes a minimum size of 10,000 square feet in the subdivision and R-3 establishes a minimum size of 7,500 square feet.

Although no objection was voiced to the rezoning for apartments, J. Boyd Stout, developer of Garden City, did object to the rezoning which would permit reduction in the size of the lot.

His objection that it would reduce the value of homes in Garden City and the adjacent Ridgewood Subdivisions was echoed by Dennis Johnson, Donald Greenlee and Larry Stemm, all residents of Garden City Subdivision.

Russell Dawley, spokesman for the developers, noted the preliminary plat of the approximately ten acres involved in the residential classification change contained 40 lots, 17 of which had a minimum frontage of over 70 feet.

He explained that because of increasing real estate costs, the size of the lot needed to be reduced to keep the cost of housing within line with what the buyers were able to pay. He also said the values of the houses in the proposed subdivision would be comparable to the values of houses in Garden City.

W. P. Yamarick, chairman of Circleville Planning and Zoning Commission, reported that the change in zoning was recommended by the commission.

He said traffic flow onto Nicholas Drive would be regulated by not permitting any homes to face the existing traffic artery. He also noted that plans for apartments had to be approved by planning and zoning commission before construction could start and that a more detailed subdivision plat would have to be approved before construction could start.

He said property values would be protected by requiring larger lots along Nicholas Drive.

Council president Joe Bell announced the proceedings of the hearing would be taken under advisement by the members of council. The rezoning ordinance was held for a second reading. Under normal city council procedures an ordinance is read three times unless a three-fourths majority votes for a suspension of the rules.

SAMs Fired At Planes Inside South

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today he wished that the North Vietnamese would "soon awaken to the reality and not put us in a situation which forces us to attack them right on their own territory."

The president's statement, issued by the office of his press secretary, added: "in other words, we let the authorities in Hanoi decide by themselves whether or not they want to be attacked by us right in their own territory, which is North Vietnam."

Meanwhile North Vietnam fired surface-to-air missiles into the skies over South Vietnam Tuesday for the first time in the Indochina war, the U.S. Command disclosed, and U.S. sources hinted that there would be new air strikes in retaliation.

The 37-foot-long SAM2 missiles were fired at three U.S. planes supporting the South Vietnamese ground drive to disrupt the Ho Chi Minh trail network in Laos. The U.S. Command said none of the planes was damaged.

South Vietnamese headquarters announced it had thrown 2,000 marines into the Laotian operation to boost its strength across the border to 18,000 men.

Heavy fighting raged today in Laos, at Hill 30, a South Vietnamese post eight miles northwest of the border outpost of Lao Bao. Headquarters said North Vietnamese troops attacked behind a mortar barrage but lost 98 men during a 10-hour fight. A spokesman said 60 of the enemy were killed by artillery and U.S. air strikes. Saigon said it had one man killed and three wounded.

U.S. warplanes roamed over wide areas of Indochina in an intensified campaign to ease pressure on nearly 40,000 South Vietnamese ground troops in Laos and Cambodia. One F105 fighter-bomber escort attacked a SAM site 10 miles north of the demilitarized zone before dawn today when it threatened another flight of U.S. planes bombing along the Ho Chi Minh trail, the U.S. Command said.

In its announcement of the SAM attack from North Vietnam, the U.S. Command said the enemy fired the Russian-built missiles at a Navy A7 fighter-bomber returning from a strike mission against the Ho Chi Minh trail and at an Army OV1 reconnaissance plane support.

Autobahn Is Closed

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany blocked roads in and out of West Berlin today in a resumption of its campaign to break the city's political ties with West Germany.

The Western allies protested to the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin, saying they held the Soviet Union responsible for the tieups and demanding an immediate halt to them.

The situation changed hourly, but early this morning the Communists virtually closed all roads leading to and from West Berlin. Five of the six border crossing points were reported affected, and the sixth could not be reached by telephone.

The harassment was aimed at a three-day meeting of parliamentary leaders of West Germany's Christian Democratic party opening in West Berlin today.

It was the fourth time in three months the Communists have blocked traffic in retaliation for such a political meeting in the city. In January the harassment lasted for five days.

Successor To Hall To Be Named March 10

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A successor to Franklin County Sheriff Stacy Hall, who died last week, is expected to be named March 10 when the county Republican Central Committee meets.

The post is being filled temporarily by the late sheriff's son, Stacy Hall Jr., who reportedly is one of a number of persons interested in the appointment. The term runs until the end of 1972.

News Barrier Still Strong In Laos Operation

By HOLGER JENSEN Associated Press Writer

QUANG TRI, Viet-am (AP) — Official obstruction is still preventing U.S. newsmen from doing a thorough job of covering the war in southern Laos despite some easing of restrictions.

Journalistic veterans of the war say they have never encountered a more concerted effort by U.S. and South Vietnamese military authorities to restrict the flow of information.

Military information officers, however, claim they are doing all they can to help newsmen. They admit some facts are not released, but contend this is only because they would be useful to the enemy or just are not available.

Maj. Lee Jones, the chief U.S. briefing officer in Quang Tri, says he can give no information about South Vietnamese forces in Laos. Lt. Col. Do Dang Bo, the Vietnamese information officer, says he can give no information about U.S. operations.

When they speak for their own forces, their announcements are uncoordinated and often misleading.

Bo, for example, reported this week that 3,227 enemy troops had been killed in Laos. Jones reported that U.S. aircraft, had killed more than 1,400 enemy in Laos.

"Is that included in the total released by Bo?" a correspondent asked.

"I have no way of knowing," said Jones.

Field reports on casualties and battles differ widely from the official versions. The official accounts given in Quang Tri differ from the official accounts given in Saigon.

Although at least one South Vietnamese fire base in Laos has been overrun and two others have been evacuated under enemy siege, Bo has yet to admit a defeat at the hands of North Vietnamese forces.

Newsman felt they had accomplished a major coup when they got Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam, the 1st Corps commander, to admit that "things were going badly" at one ranger base. But the general hastily added that his men were "effectively accomplishing their mission" even as they retreated.

One major complaint is that the U.S. Command is not being candid about its aircraft losses in Laos. Officially, 22 helicopters have been lost across the border since the operation began Feb. 8. This is an average of one a day, but helicopter pilots say four or five a day are being shot down by the intense enemy anti-aircraft fire.

Jones' explanation: "The only helicopters we consider lost are those still in Laos, the ones we have not been able to recover."

The bullet-riddled hulks of helicopters not listed as losses can be seen every day, airlifted back to Khe Sanh and other bases in South Vietnam by recovery helicopters.

Their crews might be dead or wounded, their structure so badly damaged they would have to be sent back to the United States to be made operative again, but "they're not lost. The pilots simply chose not to fly any further," one wagish information officer commented.

Gilligan Pushes More Austerity In Government

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan called today for better budgeting and better management in an effort to "save every possible dollar in state funds."

He said this would "insure the efficient use of every dollar that comes into the state treasury."

Gilligan ordered austerity measures started by former Gov. James A. Rhodes to continue in effect, including not filling of job vacancies and delayed purchasing of equipment.

He said austerity has cut 678 executive department employees from state payrolls in recent weeks.

Gilligan said he was taking the action because more spending would be necessary in the future if his programs are approved by the legislature.

"If we are to expect the people of Ohio to support our new program — and I believe they will — we must demonstrate on a day-to-day basis that we mean business — that we intend to spend every dollar wisely," he said.

He said the total number of

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Mayor Richard Gerhardt reported that all easement agreements had been signed for the extension of Atwater Ave., except one. He stated that court action would be necessary to acquire the easement on the property in question.

Ezra Shannon, 455 Watt St., asked council to place a fire hydrant near his house.

Reports to council were brief. However, Finance Chairman David Goldschmidt did note that the $20,000 advance draw authorized by council at its last session in February had been made, bills were paid and the city was right back in the red with no appreciable income anticipated before another month had passed.

Goldschmidt said a meeting of the finance committee would be called and that the 70-30 split on the city income tax might have to be changed in order to channel more money into the general fund.

Mayor Gerhardt's reappointment of Mrs. Ruth Barnes, 619 N. Court St., to the board of health for a four year term was approved by Council.

SAMs Fired

porting the ground operation.

The planes were in the north-west corner of South Vietnam, close to the borders of the demilitarized zone and Laos.

A third plane, also a Navy A7, was fired on just inside Laos, the American command said.

The A7s did not return the fire because they do not carry radar-homing Shrike missiles, the weapons normally used against SAM positions. They were flying without escorts, informed sources said, apparently because there had been no previous indication of SAM firings in that region.

The SAM2 has a range of 30 miles and can easily reach into Laos or South Vietnam from mobile launchers near the borders.

Bad Weather Rakes Much Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow, wind and rain plagued much of the nation from Texas to the Great Lakes and east to the Atlantic today.

The Dallas-Fort Worth area was hit by a 2-inch overnight snow. Heavy-snow warnings were out in sections of Missouri, and a heavy-snow watch was issued for portions of West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Occasional severe thunderstorms cracked across the Deep South. A tornado watch was in effect in the predawn hours for parts of five states from Texas to Georgia.

Damaging winds swept Thomasville, Ala., late Tuesday, but there were no reports of injuries. Tornadoes were sighted during the day in Alabama and Mississippi.

Rains of an inch or more were common from the Ohio Valley to Alabama and Georgia.

Snow fell on some coastal areas of the Pacific Northwest. Locally heavy amounts were forecast in the Oregon Cascades as a brisk chill persisted in much of the Far West.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from -11 at Hibbing, Minn. to 77 at Key West, Fla.

Bird Talks Self Out Of House

OXFORD, England (AP) — Mrs. Maude Hogan's pet talking budgerigar (parakeet) not only learned the wrong lines, he couldn't stop using them, so he talked himself out of house and home.

President Denies Kissinger Encroaching On Rogers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says it is not true Henry Kissinger, his secretary of state in everything but title.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said in a Senate speech Tuesday Kissinger is "the most powerful man in the Nixon administration next to the President himself."

He said Kissinger "is the secretary of state in everything but title" and added that an appearance by Secretary of State William P. Rogers "is rather an empty exercise."

"It's rather sad wherever you go in the afternoon or the evening around this town to hear the very able secretary of state laughed at," he added.

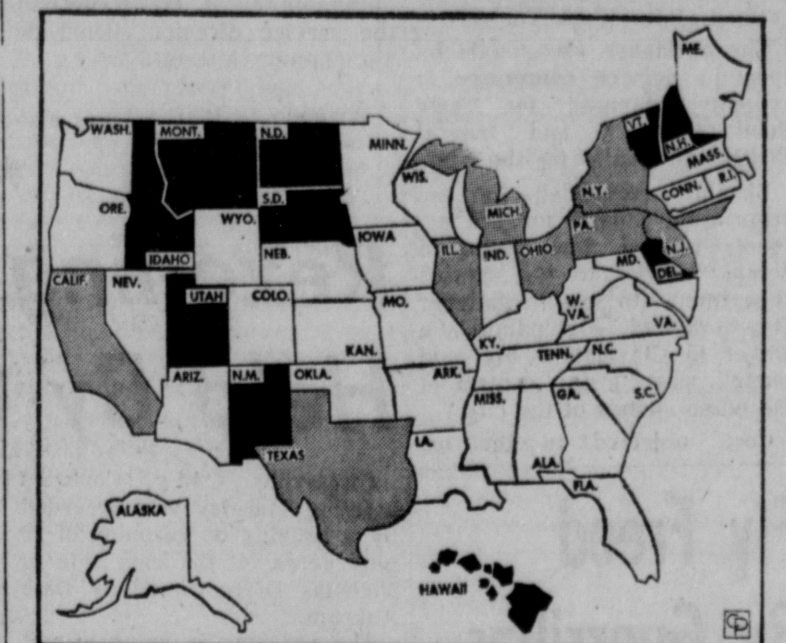

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, said Tuesday the President has "the utmost confidence in the secretary of state and in the judgment of the secretary of state."

"The President wanted me to say also to the secretary of state is the President's chief adviser on foreign affairs and he will remain that. And people who think otherwise are misleading themselves and others."

Ziegler said there would be no comment on any other portion of the Symington speech. He evaded questions on whether Rogers or Kissinger is considered the pre-eminent foreign policy adviser to the President and whether Nixon had expressed any concern about a possible rivalry.

However, he did add Kissinger was in very close consultation on preparation of last week's annual report on foreign policy.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said of Symington's speech: "Obviously, we are disappointed at such a remark and such a characterization." He said Rogers "has made every effort to be as fully responsive to questions as he can be under the circumstances when appearing before congressional committees."

THE BIG GET BIGGER — Eight large states (shaded) would have 51 per cent of the voting strength at the Democratic National Convention under the party Rules Commission's proposal to increase vote of populous states at expense of the least populous. Less populous states (black) would lose about half. Three — Alaska, Nevada, Wyoming — would lose three-fourths.

2 OSU Coeds To Become Pages In Ohio Senate Soon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Ohio State University coeds are expected to make history this month by becoming the first females to serve as pages in the Ohio Senate.

Miss Bailey heard from a friend that Bowen was searching for a page in January and submitted her application.

"I am working my way through school, and I needed a part-time job," she said.

The 30 pages in the Senate and 45 in the House function traditionally as errand boys for legislators and the legislative staff when the General Assembly is in session.

Many are Ohio State students and the jobs are worked around class schedules. Pay is $2.55 an hour and most pages average about 20 hours a week.

Miss Bailey, 22, a senior majoring in education, was recommended by Sen. William F. Bowen, D-9 Cincinnati. She is scheduled to begin work about mid-March.

Neither girl has any qualms about invading an all-male sanctuary.

"I've always been interested in government, and I'm looking forward to it," said Miss Trego.

"It will be exciting," declared Miss Bailey.

See Nixon Popular In South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern Republican leaders, sometimes unhappy with President Nixon's policies, say he is riding a high wave of popularity and would carry the region easily in an election against any of the potential Democratic candidates.

Several of the dozen Southern GOP state chairmen also said after a two-day meeting here:

—Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine—in that order—would be the strongest presidential candidates the Democrats could throw against Nixon. But, they said, neither could beat Nixon in the South.

—Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama almost certainly will not make another run for the presidency as a third party contender.

—School integration and race are issues that can defeat or elect a candidate in only two or three states.

—Many Southerners still are upset about problems they had once hoped Nixon would solve, ranging from foreign competition to the textile industry to school integration by busing.

But, the state chairmen said, the courts, Congress and even the federal bureaucracy — not Richard Nixon — get most of the blame.

—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is very popular in the South, although no one interviewed suggested a Nixon victory in the region absolutely depended on Agnew on the ticket.

Both say they hope the move will cut costs, increase jobs and ease White House pressure against inflation in the industry.

A statement issued by the two groups Tuesday said the agreement spells out 11 rules which "range from selection of foremen and working a full day to a ban on nonworking stewards and a prohibition against slow-downs, standby crews and featherbedding practices."

The agreement covers an estimated one-fourth of the nation's $100-billion-a-year construction industry. It includes a provision to virtually abolish overtime and to spread construction work throughout the year.

The agreement follows a move by President Nixon last week to suspend the Davis-Bacon Act setting wage levels on federal projects. The President hinted at stiffer action if unions and contractors didn't get together to cut costs.

Oil Heater Flames

Circleville firemen were called to a Route 22 home shortly before 9 a.m. today on report of a heater fire.

A fuel oil heater located in the living room of the Harold Tate residence, Route 3 apparently allowed too much fuel to soak into the filters. The excess oil ignited sending flames out through the chimney. Firemen reported no damage. They remained on the scene until the fire had burnt itself out.

BULLETIN

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., (AP) — Dick Bestwick, named Feb. 24 as head football coach at Marshall University, today resigned before he could unpack his bags, and returned to be freshman coach at Georgia Tech, Athletic Director Joe McMullen announced.

McMullen said he met for seven hours with Bestwick Tuesday night in efforts to change Bestwick's mind, but was unsuccessful.

That leaves the Marshall Thundering Herd again without a football coach, a situation it has had since Nov. 14 when a chartered jetliner crashed on approach to Tri-State Airport, killing 43 Marshall football players and coaches.

Gilligan Pushes More Austerity In Government

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan called today for better budgeting and better management in an effort to "save every possible dollar in state funds."

He said this would "insure the efficient use of every dollar that comes into the state treasury." Gilligan ordered austerity measures started by former Gov. James A. Rhodes to continue in effect, including not filling of job vacancies and delayed purchasing of equipment.

He said austerity has cut 678 executive department employees from state payrolls in recent weeks.

Gilligan said he was taking the action because more spending would be necessary in the future if his programs are approved by the legislature.

"If we are to expect the people of Ohio to support our new program — and I believe they will — we must demonstrate on a day-to-day basis that we mean business — that we intend to spend every dollar wisely," he said.

He said the total number of executive department employees has dropped from 42,953 in the last pay period of the Rhodes administration to 42,275 in the first pay period in February.

"While these measures will help keep down the cost of state government," Gilligan said, "I believe the real savings are to be realized by careful budgeting and improved management in every state department."

He said he had already ordered into effect numerous money saving programs. Among those he listed:

— Limitations on personal use of state-owned automobiles by state employees.

— Discontinuation of the use of cover license plates which conceal from the public the identity of state-owned automobiles.

— Centralization of purchasing and maintenance of state autos. Gilligan said he would begin spelling out specific proposals on his legislative program Thursday. He said increased spending programs "in virtually every major area of state government" will be necessary to solve Ohio's problems.

Snow Blamed For 3-Car Accidents

Snow and ice were blamed for two three-car injury accidents early this morning in Pickaway County.

Algene Branham, 39, of Ashville suffered neck and back injuries when she was involved in a collision at 7:40 a.m. on the Circleville-Lockbourne Road in Harrison Township. She was taken to Lockbourne AFB Hospital.

According to the report of Deputy Sheriff John Bost, she was traveling north when she lost control of her car on the slippery road and was struck in the rear by a northbound car driven by Steven B. Edwards, 20, of Ashville.

Dennis W. Uhrig, 21, of Kingsport also traveling north was unable to stop and skidded into the Edwards auto.

Madge G. Keenex of Route 3 suffered neck and chest injuries in an accident at 7:43 a.m. on Route 23 north of Route 22. She was referred to the doctor for treatment.

According to the report of Deputy Sheriff Phil Brown, she was southbound when she lost control of her auto and was struck by a vehicle driven by Ronald Jay Terlinger, 35, of Route 2 who in turn was hit by a car driven by Charles A. Moss, 30, of Ashville.

Speech Clinic Slates Spring Vacation

There will be no more therapy sessions at the Pickaway County Speech and Hearing Clinic until April 3.

Regular sessions will be resumed at the Mound Street Elementary School on that date.

Planning . . .

IN other action, $3,500 was transferred from the waterworks operating to the engineering to pay for a water softener feasibility study. Floyd G. Brown, Marion, has been hired to conduct the study.

An ordinance was passed authorizing the board of public utilities to advertise for bids for a 1971 automobile.

An ordinance was passed authorizing the board of public utilities to advertise for bids for cast iron pipe, valves and fittings for 1971.

An ordinance was passed approving $187.50 for damages in acquiring one of the right of way easements along Atwater Ave.

COUNCIL BRIEFS
Mayor Richard Gerhardt reported that all easement agreements had been signed for the extension of Atwater Ave. except one. He stated that court action would be necessary to acquire the easement on the property in question.

Ezra Shannon, 455 Watt St., asked council to place a fire hydrant near his house.

Reports to council were brief. However, Finance Chairman David Goldschmidt did note that the $20,000 advance draw authorized by council at its last session in February had been made, bills were paid and the city was right back in the red with no appreciable income anticipated before another month had passed.

Goldschmidt said a meeting of the finance committee would be called and that the 70-30 split on the city income tax might have to be changed in order to channel more money into the general fund.

Mayor Gerhardt's reappointment of Mrs. Ruth Barnes, 619 N. Court St., to the board of health for a four year term was approved by Council.

SAMs Fired

The planes were in the north-west corner of South Vietnam, close to the borders of the demilitarized zone and Laos.

A third plane, also a Navy A7, was fired on just inside Laos, the American command said.

The A7s did not return the fire because they do not carry radar-homing Shrike missiles, the weapons normally used against SAM positions. They were flying without escorts, informed sources said, apparently because there had been no previous indication of SAM firings in that region.

The SAM2 has a range of 30 miles and can easily reach into Laos or South Vietnam from mobile launchers near the borders.

Bad Weather Rakes Much Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow, wind and rain plagued much of the nation from Texas to the Great Lakes and east to the Atlantic today.

The Dallas-Fort Worth area was whittled by a 2-inch overnight snow. Heavy-snow warnings were out in sections of Missouri, and a heavy-snow watch was issued for portions of West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Occasional severe thunderstorms cracked across the Deep South. A tornado watch was in effect in the predawn hours for parts of five states from Texas to Georgia.

Damaging winds swept Thomasville, Ala., late Tuesday, but there were no reports of injuries. Tornadoes were sighted during the day in Alabama and Mississippi.

Rains of an inch or more were common from the Ohio Valley to Alabama and Georgia.

Snow fell on some coastal areas of the Pacific Northwest. Locally heavy amounts were forecast in the Oregon Cascades as a brisk chill persisted in much of the Far West.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from -11 at Hibbing, Minn. to 77 at Key West, Fla.

Bird Talks Self Out Of House

OXFORD, England (AP) — Mrs. Maude Hogan's pet talking budgerigar (parakeet) not only learned the wrong lines, he couldn't stop using them, so he talked himself out of house and home.

"Come into the garden, Maude," the bird kept squawking. Mrs. Hogan, an invalid, got fed up. A radio appeal produced 24 families willing to take the bird and one of the offers was snapped up

President Denies Kissinger Encroaching On Rogers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says it is not true Henry Kissinger, has become secretary of state in everything but title.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said in a Senate speech Tuesday Kissinger is "the most powerful man in the Nixon administration next to the President himself." He said Kissinger "is the secretary of state in everything but title" and added that an appearance by Secretary of State William P. Rogers "is rather an empty exercise."

"It's rather sad wherever you go in the afternoon or the evening around this town to hear the very able secretary of state laughed at," he added.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, said Tuesday the President has "the utmost confidence in the secretary of state and in the judgment of the secretary of state."

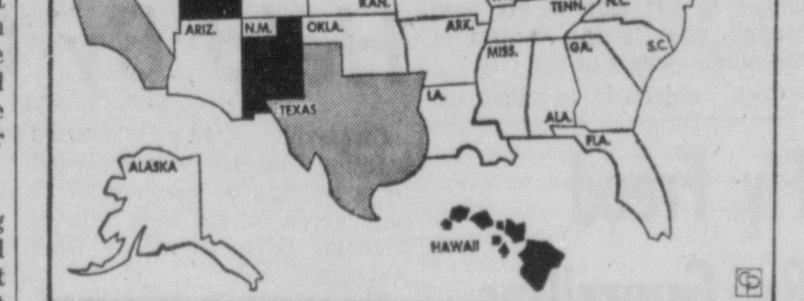

"The President wanted me to say also to you the secretary of state is the President's chief adviser on foreign affairs and he will remain that. And people who think otherwise are misleading themselves and others."

Ziegler said there would be no comment on any other portion of the Symington speech. He evaded questions on whether Rogers or Kissinger is considered the pre-eminent foreign policy adviser to the President and whether Nixon had expressed any concern about a possible rivalry.

However, he did add Kissinger was in very close consultation on preparation of last week's annual report on foreign policy.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said of Symington's speech: "Obviously, we are disappointed at such a remark and such a characterization." He said Rogers "has made every effort to be as fully responsive to questions as he can be under the circumstances when appearing before congressional committees."

THE BIG GET BIGGER — Eight large states (shaded) would have 51 per cent of the voting strength at the Democratic National Convention under the party Rules Commission's proposal to increase vote of populous states at expense of the least populous. Less populous states (black) would lose about half. Three — Alaska, Nevada, Wyoming—would lose three-fourths.

2 OSU Coeds To Become Pages In Ohio Senate Soon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Ohio State University coeds are expected to make history this month by becoming the first females to serve as pages in the Ohio Senate.

Pending Senate confirmation, Suzanne Trego of Cuyahoga Falls and Edith Bailey of Cincinnati will be the first girls to hold such jobs in the 168-year history of the General Assembly.

Miss Trego, a 19-year-old sophomore majoring in comprehensive English education, was recommended by Sen. Clara Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton, and technically will become the state's first female page if she starts work on schedule Monday.

Miss Bailey, 22, a senior majoring in education, was recommended by Sen. William F. Bowen, D-9 Cincinnati. She is scheduled to begin work about mid-March.

Neither girl has any qualms about invading an all-male sanctuary.

"I've always been interested in government, and I'm looking forward to it," said Miss Trego. "It will be exciting," declared Miss Bailey.

Work Rules Streamlined

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventeen AFL-CIO building and construction trade unions and the National Constructors Association have agreed to streamline work rules on heavy construction projects.

Both say they hope the move will cut costs, increase jobs and ease White House pressure against inflation in the industry.

A statement issued by the two groups Tuesday said the agreement spells out 11 rules which "range from selection of foremen and working a full day to a ban on nonworking stewards and a prohibition against slow-downs, standby crews and featherbedding practices."

The agreement covers an estimated one-fourth of the nation's $100-billion-a-year construction industry. It includes a provision to virtually abolish overtime and to spread construction work throughout the year.

The agreement follows a move by President Nixon last week to suspend the Davis-Bacon Act setting wage levels on federal projects. The President hinted at stiffer action if unions and contractors didn't get together to cut costs.

Fire Hits Warehouse
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A blaze which struck the Peerless Co. warehouse here Saturday caused an estimated $1.2 million damage. Dayton fire inspectors said Tuesday.

Air Hose Stolen
Lloyd Davis, operator of a service station at 1030 S. Court St., reported to Circleville Police that an 30-foot air hose was stolen there recently.

"ROW, ROW, ROW YOUR BOAT," gently across the Pacific Ocean to Sydney, Australia, is the thought of John Fairfax and Sylvia Cook (left) as they inspect their 35-footer in San Francisco. It's the boat Fairfax rowed solo across the Atlantic. Fairfax, 35, and Miss Cook, 32, expect to leave Fisherman's Wharf on March 26.

Oil Heater Flames

Circleville firemen were called to a Route 22 home shortly before 9 a.m. today on report of a heater fire.

A fuel oil heater located in the living room of the Harold Tate residence, Route 3 apparently allowed too much fuel to soak into the filters. The excess oil ignited sending flames out through the chimney. Firemen reported no damage. They remained on the scene until the fire had burnt itself out.

Surviving are maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Ross, Juvall, and paternal grandmother, Mrs. James McNeal, Ashville.

Arrangements were completed by the Bastian Funeral Home, Ashville.

BULLETIN

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., (AP) — Dick Bestwick, named Feb. 24 as head football coach at Marshall University, today resigned before he could unpack his bags, and returned to be freshman coach at Georgia Tech, Athletic Director Joe McMullen announced.

McMullen said he met for seven hours with Bestwick Tuesday night in efforts to change Bestwick's mind, but was unsuccessful.

That leaves the Marshall Thundering Herd again without a football coach, a situation it has had since Nov. 14 when a chartered jetliner crashed on approach to Tri-State Airport, killing 43 Marshall football players and coaches.

Assistant Named In New Holland

Richard Doyle was appointed and sworn in as assistant chief of the New Holland Volunteer Fire Department Monday. Salary is $10 per month.

The volunteer unit serves New Holland, Perry Township of Pickaway County and Marion Twp. of Fayette County. Fire Chief is Frank Wood.

Primitive Style

Everything was fairly routine in the painting contest sponsored by the Kansas Recreation and Park Association until the time approached for presenting the awards. The judges had dutifully gone over the paintings submitted by children, and had chosen two modern impressionist works as the best of the show.

D. James Orang, they announced, had been selected as the most promising artist for his creations, "Train from Tokyo" and "Tornado." Only then did they discover Orang was an orangutan at the Topeka zoo.

Presumably parents and judges are still trying to explain to the children what happened, but in the meantime the winner is prospering. He also has sold enough of his works to pay half the $5,000 needed for his new mate.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Although more houses may be built and sold in 1971 than in any year since 1950, thousands of families continue to play the waiting game—waiting for interest rates and other mortgage terms to become more favorable.

The wait-and-pay-less strategy is supported by elements of sound reasoning, because a trend to easier terms has developed so swiftly and strongly that few housing officials can remember anything comparable. And it continues.

Houses that last year remained unsold because of 8.5 per cent and 9 per cent rates of borrowing now remain unsold at 7.25 per cent because buyers, noting the trend, feel they can wait for 7 and 6.75 per cent.

The U.S. Savings & Loan League, which represents the savings and loan industry, which provides the bulk of mortgage money, calls the situation a tradeoff. Sure, interest rates are falling, it says, but prices are rising.

And so the question: Does it pay to play the waiting game? The evidence suggests that to a point it can be played profitably. But sometime in the future interest rates will cease falling, while prices are expected to continue rising. And it is true also that to delay the purchase of a home while seeking a one half point drop in mortgage rates may not be the smartest strategy. On a $25,000 mortgage for 20 years, a one-half point difference amounts to only $7 or $8 a month.

At 8 per cent, for example, the mortgage costs $209.12. At 7.5 per cent the monthly tab is $201.40, a 7 per cent $193.83, at 6.5 per cent $186.40 and at 6 per cent $179.11.

The difference resulting from one-half point, therefore, might not be worth the risk of losing the house of one's dreams. It might be better to consider the additional $7 to $8 an investment in better living.

However, those one-half point differences add up. Note that the holder of a 6 per cent mortgage pays $30 a month less than the family holding an 8 per cent contract. Is it worth waiting for? Maybe. But even though rates have fallen swiftly few financial men foresee 6 per cent this year.

These small differences add up in another way too. Over the 240 months of a 20-year mortgage, the difference between a 7.5 per cent and an 8 per cent rate totals $1,852.80, and much more if invested smartly.

The difference between 8 and 6 per cent adds up to a very substantial figure, some $7,202.40, based on a total of $50,188.80 versus $42,986.40.

Worth waiting it out? Hard to say. Any family now playing the game must work out the equations carefully: present housing costs, potential savings in moving, the value of building equity instead of paying rent.

Is it worth taking out a mortgage now and then renegotiating if rates drop? Does the mortgage lender permit this without complications, or does he charge a prepayment fee?

Perhaps the most crucial factor at the moment is the threat of continued increases in housing prices. Even some of the large, corporate builders who were supposed to bring economies to the industry expect to raise prices.

One thing to watch for carefully is the possibility of a change in dimensions of the model house you've chosen. It may look the same but it won't feel the same, because it has been shrunk by two feet on every side as an alternative to a higher price.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IF YOU read Katie Louchheim's inside and lively stories about Washington in the Fifties and Sixties, you may learn for the first time, as I did, that Texas, alone among the fifty states, has the right, should it so choose, to divide itself into more states! Possibly, this is what emboldened one distinguished Dallasite, asked where Texans acquired their exuberance, to explain, "We're the only state that came into the Union on its own terms!"

On the Beach: A burly young lifeguard had genuine trouble giving artificial respiration to a beautiful, bikini-clad lass. She kept getting up and walking away . . . A veteran shell collector had a brand new experience with a shell he picked up after a storm. He held the shell to his ear and a voice informed him, "Sorry, but this seashell is temporarily out of order" . . . And a sign at a gyp auction room on the boardwalk proclaimed, "No one under twenty-one dollars admitted."

Worst-jokes-of-the-week Department:

1. Voice on the phone: "Have you lost an inmate?" Asylum Superintendent: "No. Why?" Voice on phone: "Someone's eloped with my wife!"
2. "Where did your wife get that awful hat?" "She won't tell. It must be a millinery secret."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

When I eat something sour, a swelling appears underneath my chin. This lasts for a few hours, then disappears.

Could this be cancerous?

Miss S.P., Conn. Dear Miss P.: It is interesting to me that so many letters seem to end in an explosion of fear about cancer.

In many instances, these fears tend to undermine the stability of the individual and the personal happiness he is entitled to.

"Is it cancerous?" is a question that seems to dominate the thinking of frightened people who have no justification for such fears.

Unless that question is asked of the doctor, and unless it is satisfactorily answered, the emotional health of the individual is threatened and sometimes even destroyed.

No, your story does not point to a cancerous condition. It is difficult to believe that a cancerous growth would come and go, as you describe.

A far more common reason for this condition is some obstruction in the tiny tube that carries saliva from the gland beneath your chin.

This tube can be blocked by a small stone that acts as a ball valve and temporarily interferes with the flow of saliva.

This makes the gland pop out, especially after eating tart or sour foods.

There now are some excellent methods by which a dye is instilled into the tube and into the salivary gland. Then X-rays can show the site of the obstruction. If a small stone is present, it is easily and painlessly removed.

The removal of a stone or even a salivary gland is sometimes far easier than the removal of the fears that linger on and terrorize people.

If we are to attain any degrees of happiness we must avoid becoming the chronic fear-invalid.

It is not easy, in a complicated world such as ours, to be totally free of anxiety and tension. Yet an effort must be made to side-track unrealistic and hidden fears that tend to devitalize us and to keep us from functioning with peace of mind.

Certainly, you have a right to be concerned about the swelling in your neck. But reassurance might be easily obtained from your doctor.

It is imperative that you and other readers similarly beset by fears seek from your physicians the emotional support you need.

This can come only by expressing your fears, by bringing your fears into the open.

A firm rule of safety is to give up smoking in bed. Better than that . . . give up smoking!

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Today is Wednesday, March 3, the 62nd day of 1971. There are 303 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1791, the District of Columbia was organized.

On this date: In 1845, Florida became the 27th state.

In 1849 the U.S. Department of the Interior was established.

In 1879, Congress established the U.S. Geological Survey.

In 1944, in World War II, U.S. fighter planes made their first appearance over Berlin.

Ten years ago — President John F. Kennedy and New Zealand's prime minister, Keith J. Holyoake, met in Washington, and later issued a statement voicing concern over the policies of Communist China.

Five years ago — Seven members of the Ku Klux Klan were charged with contempt of Congress for refusing to produce records subpoenaed in a House investigation.

One year ago — In Lamar, S.C., white demonstrators were dispersed with tear gas after overturning two school buses and clashing with police and black pupils.

Mental Health Plan Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A subcommittee of the Citizens Task Force on Mental Health and Retardation was told Monday that all children should be placed in program in the first three years of life to detect retardation.

Dr. Henry Leland, director of psychological services of the Mental Retardation Training Program at Ohio State University, made the suggestion. He said after age three, pre-school centers should provide for those showing mental disabilities.

"I think under such a program, we would find that we no longer have 'educable mentally retarded.'"

Alimony Law For Welfare

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN You get two views of the world from the hospital room in which I have been spending a week recuperating from hernia surgery. One is the view on a TV screen, where the news circles endlessly around the topic of Welfareism. The other is the sweep from my window, which looks out over the edge-of-downtown New Haven, Connecticut area in which I happened to spend the first nine years of my life.

The two views simply don't add up. Endlessly, on the TV screen, you are told that there are few malingers on welfare. You are assured by the TV documentary that the one-out-of-eight who are on relief in New York City and Los Angeles are there because they are unable to work. The biggest contributory cause of the mounting welfare bill is the family-with-dependent children whose breadwinner has mysteriously disappeared. Mothers must stay home to mind the kids; the city and the state must come through with the rent the food, the clothing and the entertainment.

No doubt this is all true, as we look at things today. But the view from my room makes one wonder how we ever came to the present pass. When I was a boy of 9 who used to buy violet chips (a tasty gum that came in a circular box; at the Sylvan Avenue-Park Street drug store corner that I can see from the hospital window, the area was on the edge of a slum. Our back yard on Park Street ended with a fence that separated us from a Spruce Street tenement. There were minor segregations in those pre World War I days. Jews lived on Spruce Street. The Italians lived around the corner on Oak Street. Park Street itself was a melting pot. Our own Penrodish gang, which had periodic scuffles with an Italian Oak Street gang, was curiously mixed.

I remember the names and faces of little boys who were Melting Pot America in excelsis — Silver, Sinosky, Kebabian, Murray, Swabellus, Zimmerman, Montgomery, Pritchard Clue (son of a Negro preacher). The fact that we were arrayed (with garbage can cover shields) against the Italians in occasional rock throwing for the regrettable privilege of preying on the store that sold Clix and Murad cigarettes was purely geographical and implied no ethnic prejudice. The Italians had not yet moved into Park

Street and beyond. The Oak Street — Spruce Street slum with its intrusions into Park and George Streets, got very little Welfareism. No doubt it had its tragedies. The slum itself was fated to be bulldozed out of the way for urban renewal; but it hasn't disappeared. It has now moved over to the west just beyond the line of vision from my hospital window. It is now called the Hill. The Irish, the Italians, the Jews and the Swedes of my boyhood moved too, but not in the direction of the Hill, which is now predominantly Negro. One pal of my youth became a big man in the telephone company; another, the son of a Swedish immigrant, made a lot of money in the second World War as a gun manufacturer. They were white, of course, but who said the Negro can't be upward mobile? Give him a chance.

So what is the point? The slum families of 50 years ago may have had their troubles, but they did not suffer the final indignity: they did not become self-perpetuating. Wives and mothers, unable to get on an aid-to-dependent-children list, somehow hung on to their men. Maybe the point is moral, not economic, having to do with attitudes to sex and marriage.

The no doubt cruel and reactionary thought occurs to me that if the old-fashioned principle of the alimony court were to be applied to Welfareism, some of the now deserted families might regain their men or at least receive some remittance support from them. If, as a condition of obtaining relief, the fathers of deserted children had to be named, with the subsequent dispatch of a garnishee posse to go out and arrest the delinquents and force them to contribute to the support to their offspring, it might make a difference. The unemployed, able-bodied deserter could be forced to take a job or forego welfare for himself.

I am too much of a softie to have children suffer for the behavior of their parents. But isn't there a way to couple child relief with stiff penalties for family desertion? The Nixon Family Assistance Plan proposes to reward fathers for not quitting their families. Well, the carrot principle may be all right, but shouldn't it also be supplemented with the counter-principle of the Big Stick? Why should our relief laws favor the hit-and-run father and the able-bodied quitter. Why should society pay all of the alimony?

Report To The People

By MYRL H. SHOEMAKER State Representative

House Democrats have introduced legislation dividing the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction which apparently has the backing of Governor John Gilligan. State Rep. Shoemaker said the bill is being studied and is subject to change, but there appears "little doubt" that it will be the administration's bill to split the massive department into separate state agencies.

Governor Gilligan has been on record, early in his campaign, to separate the agency into a Department of Mental Health and a Department of Correction.

The bill creates two separate departments, equal to each other and to other existing state departments. The measure proposed to amend Sections 121.02 and 03; Section 123.01; and 143.09.

With the establishment of two separate departments, there is a need for a separate organization of each. The bill removes all mention of mental hygiene from chapter 5119, and retains the old department of mental hygiene and correction to spell out the administration of the new department of correction.

The bill deals with the general aspects of benevolent institutions which are under complete control of the Department of Mental Health. It goes into more specific detail with regard to hospitals for the mentally ill, which likewise are the province of the Department of Mental Health. It spells out the organization, powers, duties, and functions of the Department of Mental Health relating to hospitals for the feeble-minded and insane. It provides that the Department of Mental Health shall have control over the commitment of mentally deficient offenders and the voluntary and involuntary commitment of the mentally retarded.

Also on Wednesday, a bill was introduced establishing first degree murder punishable by death in case of killings by bomb or other explosive.

The joint legislative committee on campus disorders decided Tuesday, February 23, to issue a supplement to its interim report and continue in existence at least until after spring passes on Ohio's campuses.

Anticipating a long session of the 109th General Assembly, members were in unanimous accord that they should not disband. They should, instead, keep themselves apprised of happenings on the state assisted campuses in the event further legislation is needed. The committee divided itself into three subcommittees and visited all the twelve state supported and affiliated schools last summer. Then, the full committee issued an interim report in October. Since that time, the subcommittees have re-visited the campuses and the supplemental report will include information obtained during the latter hearings.

State Rep. Shoemaker said: "There is a possibility that legislation might be needed to make some clarification in the campus unrest bill passed by the General Assembly last summer."

An unemployment compensation bill was introduced. It calls for the extension of unemployment compensation benefits from 29 to 39 weeks in periods of high unemployment — above 4.5 per cent in three consecutive months.

And so the question: Does it pay to play the waiting game? The evidence suggests that to a point it can be played profitably. But sometime in the future interest rates will cease falling, while prices are expected to continue rising.

And it is true also that to delay the purchase of a home while seeking a one half point drop in mortgage rates may not be the smartest strategy. On a $25,000 mortgage for 20 years, a one-half point difference amounts to only $7 or $8 a month.

At 8 per cent, for example, the mortgage costs $209.12. At 7.5 per cent the monthly tab is $201.40, a 7 per cent $193.83, at 6.5 per cent $186.40 and at 6 per cent $179.11.

The difference resulting from one-half point, therefore, might not be worth the risk of losing the house of one's dreams. It might be better to consider the additional $7 to $8 an investment in better living.

However, those one-half point differences add up. Note that the holder of a 6 per cent mortgage pays $30 a month less than the family holding an 8 per cent contract. Is it worth waiting for? Maybe. But even though rates have fallen swiftly few financial men foresee 6 per cent this year.

These small differences add up in another way too. Over the 240 months of a 20-year mortgage, the difference between a 7.5 per cent and an 8 per cent rate totals $1,852.80, and much more if invested smartly.

The difference between 8 and 6 per cent adds up to a very substantial figure, some $7,202.40, based on a total of $50,188.80 versus $42,986.40.

Worth waiting it out? Hard to say. Any family now playing the game must work out the equations carefully: present housing costs, potential savings in moving, the value of building equity instead of paying rent.

Is it worth taking out a mortgage now and then renegotiating if rates drop? Does the mortgage lender permit this without complications, or does he charge a prepayment fee?

Perhaps the most crucial factor at the moment is the threat of continued increases in housing prices. Even some of the large, corporate builders who were supposed to bring economies to the industry expect to raise prices.

One thing to watch for carefully is the possibility of a change in dimensions of the model house you've chosen. It may look the same but it won't feel the same, because it has been shrunk by two feet on every side as an alternative to a higher price.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IF YOU read Katie Louchheim's inside and lively stories about Washington in the Fifties and Sixties, you may learn for the first time, as I did, that Texas, alone among the fifty states, has the right, should it so choose, to divide itself into more states! Possibly, this is what emboldened one distinguished Dallasite, asked where Texans acquired their exuberance, to explain, "We're the only state that came into the Union on its own terms!"

On the Beach: A burly young lifeguard had genuine trouble giving artificial respiration to a beautiful, bikini-clad lass. She kept getting up and walking away . . . A veteran shell collector had a brand new experience with a shell he picked up after a storm. He held the shell to his ear and a voice informed him, "Sorry, but this seashell is temporarily out of order" . . . And a sign at a gyp auction room on the boardwalk proclaimed, "No one under twenty-one dollars admitted."

Worst-jokes-of-the-week Department:

1. Voice on the phone: "Have you lost an inmate?" Asylum Superintendent: "No. Why?" Voice on phone: "Someone's eloped with my wife!"
2. "Where did your wife get that awful hat?" "She won't tell. It must be a millinery secret."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

When I eat something sour, a swelling appears underneath my chin. This lasts for a few hours, then disappears.

Could this be cancerous? Miss S.P., Conn. Dear Miss P.: It is interesting to me that so many letters seem to end in an explosion of fear about cancer.

In many instances, these fears tend to undermine the stability of the individual and the personal happiness he is entitled to. "Is it cancerous?" is a question that seems to dominate the thinking of frightened people who have no justification for such fears.

Unless that question is asked of the doctor, and unless it is satisfactorily answered, the emotional health of the individual is threatened and sometimes even destroyed.

No, your story does not point to a cancerous condition. It is difficult to believe that a cancerous growth would come and go, as you describe.

A far more common reason for this condition is some obstruction in the tiny tube that carries saliva from the gland beneath your chin.

This tube can be blocked by a small stone that acts as a ball valve and temporarily interferes with the flow of saliva.

This makes the gland pop out, especially after eating tart or sour foods.

There now are some excellent methods by which a dye is instilled into the tube and into the salivary gland. Then X-rays can show the site of the obstruction. If a small stone is present, it is easily and painlessly removed.

The removal of a stone or even a salivary gland is sometimes far easier than the removal of the fears that linger on and terrorize people.

If we are to attain any degrees of happiness we must avoid becoming the chronic fear-invalid.

It is not easy, in a complicated world such as ours, to be totally free of anxiety and tension. Yet an effort must be made to side-track unrealistic and hidden fears that tend to devalue us and to keep us from functioning with peace of mind.

Certainly, you have a right to be concerned about the swelling in your neck. But reassurance might be easily obtained from your doctor.

It is imperative that you and other readers similarly beset by fears seek from your physicians the emotional support you need.

Alimony Law For Welfare

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

You get two views of the world from the hospital room in which I have been spending a week recuperating from hernia surgery. One is the view on a TV screen, where the news circles endlessly around the topic of Welfareism. The other is the sweep from my window, which looks out over the edge-of-downtown New Haven, Connecticut area in which I happened to spend the first nine years of my life.

The two views simply don't add up. Endlessly, on the TV screen, you are told that there are few malingers on welfare. You are assured by the TV documentary that the one-out-of-eight who are on relief in New York City and Los Angeles are there because they are unable to work. The biggest contributory cause of the mounting welfare bill is the family-with-dependent - children whose breadwinner has mysteriously disappeared. Mothers must stay home to mind the kids; the city and the state must come through with the rent the food, the clothing and the entertainment.

No doubt this is all true, as we look at things today. But the view from my room makes one wonder how we ever came to the present pass. When I was a boy of 9 who used to buy violet chips (a tasty gum that came in a circular box; at the Sylvan Avenue-Park Street drug store corner that I can see from the hospital window, the area was on the edge of a slum. Our back yard on Park Street ended with a fence that separated us from a Spruce Street tenement. There were minor segregations in those pre World War I days. Jews lived on Spruce Street. The Italians lived around the corner on Oak Street. Park Street itself was a melting pot. Our own Penrodish gang, which had periodic scuffles with an Italian Oak Street gang, was curiously mixed.

I remember the names and faces of little boys who were Melting Pot America in excelsis - Silver, Sinosky, Kebabian, Murray, Swobellus, Zimmerman, Montgomery Pritchard Clue (son of a Negro preacher). The fact that we were arrayed (with garbage can cover shields) against the Italians in occasional rock throwing for the regrettable privilege of preying on the store that sold Clix and Murad cigarettes was purely geographical and implied no ethnic prejudice. The Italians had not yet moved into Park Street and beyond.

The Oak Street - Spruce Street slum with its intrusions into Park and George Streets got very little Welfareism. No doubt it had its tragedies. The slum itself was fated to be bulldozed out of the way for urban renewal; but it hasn't disappeared. It has now moved over to the west just beyond the line of vision from my hospital window. It is now called the Hill. The Irish, the Italians, the Jews and the Swedes of my boyhood moved too, but not in the direction of the Hill, which is now predominantly Negro. One pal of my youth became a big man in the telephone company; another, the son of a Swedish immigrant, made a lot of money in the second World War as a gun manufacturer. They were white, of course, but who said the Negro can't be upward mobile? Give him a chance.

So what is the point? The slum families of 50 years ago may have had their troubles, but they did not suffer the final indignity: they did not become self-perpetuating. Wives and mothers, unable to get on an aid-to-dependent-children list, somehow hung on to their men. Maybe the point is moral, not economic, having to do with attitudes to sex and marriage.

The no doubt cruel and reactionary thought occurs to me that if the old-fashioned principle of the alimony court were to be applied to Welfareism, some of the now deserted families might regain their men or at least receive some remittance support from them. If, as a condition of obtaining relief, the fathers of deserted children had to be named, with the subsequent dispatch of a garnishee posse to go out and arrest the delinquents and force them to contribute to the support to their offspring, it might make a difference. The unemployed, able-bodied deserter could be forced to take a job or forego welfare for himself.

I am too much of a sofie to have children suffer for the behavior of their parents. But isn't there a way to couple child relief with stiff penalties for family desertion? The Nixon Family Assistance Plan proposes to reward fathers for not quitting their families. Well, the carrot principle may be all right, but shouldn't it also be supplemented with the counter-principle of the Big Stick? Why should our relief laws favor the hit-and-run father and the able-bodied quitter. Why should society pay all of the alimony?

Report To The People

By MYRL H. SHOEMAKER
State Representative

House Democrats have introduced legislation dividing the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction which apparently has the backing of Governor John Gilligan. State Rep. Shoemaker said the bill is being studied and is subject to change, but there appears "little doubt" that it will be the administration's bill to split the massive department into separate state agencies.

Governor Gilligan has been on record, early in his campaign, to separate the agency into a Department of Mental Health and a Department of Correction.

The bill creates two separate departments, equal to each other and to other existing state departments. The measure proposed to amend Sections 121.02 and 03; Section 123.01; and 143.09.

With the establishment of two separate departments, there is a need for a separate organization of each. The bill removes all mention of mental hygiene from chapter 519, and retains the old department of mental hygiene and correction to spell out the administration of the new department of correction.

The bill deals with the general aspects of benevolent institutions which are under complete control of the Department of Mental Health. It goes into more specific detail with regard to hospitals for the mentally ill, which likewise are the province of the Department of Mental Health. It spells out the organization, powers, duties, and functions of the Department of Mental Health relating to hospitals for the feeble-minded and insane. It provides that the Department of Mental Health shall have control over the commitment of mentally deficient offenders and the voluntary and involuntary commitment of the mentally retarded.

Also on Wednesday, a bill was introduced establishing first degree murder punishable by death in case of killings by bomb or other explosive.

The joint legislative committee on campus disorders decided Tuesday, February 23, to issue a supplement to its interim report and continue in existence at least until after spring passes on Ohio's campuses.

Anticipating a long session of the 109th General Assembly, members were in unanimous accord that they should not disband. They should, instead, keep themselves apprised of happenings on the state assisted campuses in the event further legislation is needed. The committee divided itself into three subcommittees and visited all the twelve state supported and affiliated schools last summer. Then, the full committee issued an interim report in October. Since that time, the subcommittees have re-visited the campuses and the supplemental report will include information obtained during the latter hearings.

State Rep. Shoemaker said: "There is a possibility that legislation might be needed to make some clarification in the campus unrest bill passed by the General Assembly last summer."

An unemployment compensation bill was introduced. It calls for the extension of unemployment compensation benefits from 29 to 39 weeks in periods of high unemployment - above 4.5 per cent in three consecutive months.

Second Lt. Betty Jane Stewart returned home to New Holland following her discharge from the Army Nurse Corps. The White Cross Hospital, Columbus, graduate had served at Manila, Philippine Islands. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Stewart.

Circleville's largest product George Harrison Thomas, 39, of 376 Walnut St., tipped the scales at 515 pounds. He was 6 feet 1-inch in height.

City council approved an ordinance to make possible a city-owned water system in Circleville. $90,000 of the $550,000 bond issue was to be used to install a municipal softening system.

Mrs. Wealtha Vieth Abernathy authored and published a book, "Odds and Ends" recalling her experiences as a life-long resident of this community.

Leon Sims, S 2-C USNR, completed a course in "The Techniques of Basketball Officiating" at the Brooklyn Navy YMCA. Sims, a former Circleville high school cage star, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Sims, 540 E. Mound St.

Circleville native George Crouse Tyler died penniless in New York at the age of 78. A theatrical producer of renown, his worth at one time was estimated at $4 million. A productive partnership with Theodore Lieber resulted in notable productions from one of the most colorful combinations on American show business.

A new business, Culligan Soft Water Service, opened in Circleville at 848 N. Court St.

L. C. Nye, 77, of Athens, in Circleville to attend a district lodge meeting showed photographs of Circleville from his vast collection. Included were photos of the old aqueduct, lock gates and the old Hocking Canal which ran through Circleville and whose canal bed was used for a number of years for U.S. Route 33.

The area was ablaze with blossoms as continued warm weather brought forth early bloom of flowering shrubs and fruit trees, three to four weeks early.

The Circleville Herald, Wed. Mar. 3, 1971
Circleville, Ohio

SILVER ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy R. Hatfield, 342 E. Mound St., will observe their 25th Wedding Anniversary Tuesday. Their daughters are planning a surprise open house celebration Sunday, March 7, at their parents home from 2:30 to 7:30 p.m. for friends and relatives. Daughters are Mrs. David (Janet) Morris, Route 2; Pamela Smith, Texas, and Vanessa of the home. The Hatfields have one grandson, Duane Morris.

World Day Of Prayer Scheduled For Friday

Women in Circleville and the surrounding area will celebrate the 84th annual World Day of Prayer Service 1:30 p.m. Friday in Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, 310 E. Main St. The nursery in the Service Center will be staffed during the service for those wishing to bring small children.

The theme of the service is "New Life Awaits!" All over the world women of many denominations, races and languages will share in bringing an offering which will bring hope and aid to thousands all around the globe through Intercontinental Mission on six continents.

Some of the people who will be touched by those continuing programs this year are: National Parks visitors and park employees, who will be serviced through year-round ministry by early-retired ministers; international students in many educational institutions overseas; new Christian education materials; rural Christian women overseas who will study nutrition, homemaking and related subjects; aid to migrant farm workers, American Indians and

Spanish-speaking people to achieve new dignity in both urban and rural situations; to support a woman worker, to provide public health and family service for women and children in Freedom City, Miss.

In addition the offering will support a continuing commitment to families in Dominica and the Windward Islands for the building of new homes through self-help projects, theological students and Christian teachers in an inter-denominational seminary in Djakarta, reading material desperately needed by children in Africa and Asia, and the subsidy of children's and women's magazines in Korea, Argentina, Mexico and India.

All local women are cordially invited to join others in this prayer service. Those wishing more information or who might need transportation may call Mrs. Lorentz at 474-9064.

Daughters are Mrs. David (Janet) Morris, Route 2; Pamela Smith, Texas, and Vanessa of the home. The Hatfields have one grandson, Duane Morris.

World Day Of Prayer Scheduled For Friday

Women in Circleville and the surrounding area will celebrate the 84th annual World Day of Prayer Service 1:30 p.m. Friday in Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, 310 E. Main St. The nursery in the Service Center will be staffed during the service for those wishing to bring small children.

The theme of the service is "New Life Awaits!" All over the world women of many denominations, races and languages will share in bringing an offering which will bring hope and aid to thousands all around the globe through Intercontinental Mission on six continents.

Some of the people who will be touched by those continuing programs this year are: National Parks visitors and park employees, who will be serviced through year-round ministry by early-retired ministers; international students in many educational institutions overseas; new Christian education materials; rural Christian women overseas who will study nutrition, homemaking and related subjects; aid to migrant farm workers, American Indians and

Miss Sue Gates Engaged To Ronald Kelley Boyer

MISS SUE GATES

Mrs. William W. Gates, Patriot, Ohio, is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Sue, to Ronald Kelley Boyer. The bride-to-be is also the daughter of the late Mr. William Warren Gates. Mr. Boyer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Boyer, of Utica, Ohio.

Miss Gates is a graduate of Southwestern High School and Rio Grande College. She is currently employed by the Teays Valley School District as a teacher in the junior high school.

Mr. Boyer graduated from Utica High School and Otterbein College and is presently employed by the Circleville City Schools as a mathematics teacher.

The wedding will be an event of early spring.

Mrs. Marion's Class Meets

Mrs. Marion's Class of Community United Methodist Church held its March meeting Monday in the home of Mrs. Forrest Thomerson, 331 Woodlane. She was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Eloise Dunkel, Miss Ruth Stout and Miss Elizabeth Tolbert.

Mrs. Milton Griest, president, presided during the business meeting. Mrs. Herbert Southward announced the church will have prayer meeting every Wednesday evening at 7:30 during Lent.

Mrs. Griest appointed Mrs. Garold Crites and Mrs. David Goldschmidt to the nominating committee for new officers.

For devotions Mrs. Thomerson selected "The Builders," a story of early life, and prayer.

The 14 members present participated in an auction. During the social hour prizes for games won were awarded to Mrs. Roger Lozier and Mrs. Frank Kline.

The next meeting will be April 5 in the home of Mrs. Elmer Yeatts, 507 N. Pickaway St.

26 States Ask Ancient Debt To Government Be Erased

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is being asked to take 26 states off a legal hook attached to a string of federal loans made to them 135 years ago during the government's first fling at revenue sharing.

If the federal government felt like yanking in those loans with interest to boot, it could cost these states a bundle to pay the debt stemming from the $37.5 million they shared in the 1836 Surplus Revenue Act.

"There is no likelihood 'hat this debt will ever be recalled," says Sen. J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del., "but the central problem is that the states are forced to carry it as a debt in their account books."

"It's a loan which I think should be forgiven," says Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who supports Boggs' legislation that would substitute a "grant" that Congress could not recall for "loan" in the Andrew-Jackson-era law. The Treasury Department has no objections.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., who agrees with the move, says most states "have long since forgotten these first 'shared revenues' but a few, including New Jersey, Delaware and New York, still carry the debt as a liability in their budgets."

Boggs says many states either invested their portion of the money in bank or railroad stock, used it to build schools or finance public works and internal improvements, or divided it among local governments.

"In most cases, the money was lost as a result of unwise investments, poor management and economic setbacks," he adds, with Delaware and Vermont being the "only states to profit in the long run as a result of the surplus revenue."

Although the money officially was deposited with the states on a loan basis, he says, "the fact is that no one seriously believed the loan would ever be recalled. As a result, arrangements for interest payment and amortization of the debt were never made."

"As a practical matter, no state which received a share of the surplus funds is capable of repaying with 5 per cent annual interest," the prevailing rate on Treasury funds in Jackson's day, adds Boggs.

Ribicoff says the federal government "has survived this long with this outstanding debt." Besides, he adds citing his state's $764,670 share as an example of what would be owed at that interest rate, "the Library of Congress estimates the balance due to be more than a half-billion dollars."

Deputy Registrars Are All Appointed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Registrar C. Donald Curry has announced that the appointment of 800 deputy registrars for distributing Ohio motor vehicle license plates has been completed.

Nearly seven million license plates have been distributed to the deputy registrars and will go on sale March 16. New plates must be displayed by April 16.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Send Grandma A Pattern

DEAR ABBY: Are you on vacation or what? I can't believe you couldn't have thought up a better answer for the person who wrote in saying "Grandma" loves to knit and crochet but she never makes anything to fit anybody and the colors and styles she uses are terrible, so consequently nobody wears any of her hand-knit sweaters, socks, scarves, etc. And Grandma wonders why.

Abby, anybody who can knit and crochet can make things people can wear! All they need is the yarn and the patterns. Obviously Grandma doesn't have either. So instead of complaining about the terrible things she turns out, the relatives should select their own yarn, in the colors they prefer, and also give Grandma a pattern. Print this!

MAD IN MILWAUKEE
DEAR MAD: You forgot the needles. (I'll be glad to return the one you just gave me.) Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: A few months back some new people moved in across the street, so my husband and I went over to visit

Taft Rips Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert Taft Jr. said Monday all Americans were shocked and outraged by the bombing of the U. S. Capitol. The Ohio senator said, "We cannot tolerate such senseless acts of terrorism in this country."

them and welcome them to the neighborhood.

She offered to make us a cup of coffee, so we sat down at their table and I noticed a roach was crawling around on the table. My husband noticed it at the same time as I did but neither of us said anything. The lady saw it too, as I saw her watching it, but I guess she was too embarrassed to do anything about it. What would you do in a case like that? Shouldn't somebody have knocked the roach off? Or killed it maybe? Or do you just sit there and watch it crawl all over the table? If something should have been done, who should have done it?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: The

last person to spot the little creature should have "removed" it as inconspicuously as possible.

DEAR ABBY: You must be kidding! That sailor's mother has to open all her son's mail in order to read it and decide what is worth sending on to him. A person would have to be a millionaire to send (airmail yet!) all the junk the average person gets these days in the line of coupons, contests, brochures, advertisements and get-acquainted offers.

ANOTHER MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Who's kidding whom? It doesn't take a genius to distinguish between a personal letter and an offer to join "The Dirty Joke of the Month Club." The sailor resented his mother's opening his personal mail.

DEAR ABBY: Tell K.M. of Roseburg that the purpose of your column is not to instruct people on what should be done to save our country. Rather it is to help them with their everyday problems.

I agree, pollution and the war are two of the most serious problems we are facing today, but we still must meet our daily challenges. People like K.M. who are so busy worrying about tomorrow that they think of nothing else make me tired.

"If all the people who write to Dear Abby would write to their Congressman instead, she resents, "we could change the world."

Oh, yeah? If every citizen who is against the war in Vietnam were to crawl to Washington on his hands and knees it wouldn't make one bit of difference.

STEAK AU POIVRE (FRENCH PEPPER STEAK)

This classic French Pepper Steak is becoming quite popular in the United States. For a 2 inch Top Sirloin you'll need 1½ tablespoons cracked or coarse pepper. Press the pepper firmly into the steak on both sides with the heel of your hand, and let the steak stand for 30 to 45 minutes. Now grill or broil for 6 to 8 minutes on each side, remove to a hot platter, and place a large slice of butter on top. Let the butter melt before carving. Serve with boiled new potatoes rolled in butter and minced tarragon, a crisp green salad and hard rolls.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS' "All in the family" shapes up as the most stimulating new series of the television season—what ever the individual's reaction and that seems to run to extremes.

While it is classified as a situation comedy, much that is written about the series, including mail to this column, seems more concerned with its message than its laughs. Many fans feel it is like a dose of strong medicine—unpleasant, perhaps, but good for one.

In the Tuesday night episode, Archie Bunker, head of the house and racist, was dashed to learn that a black family had bought the house a couple of doors from his own. He exploded with remarks about real estate values and about "spades" and "coons."

The series, perhaps because it has occasioned so much comment, is not faring too badly in the Nielsen ratings. In the most recent listing, it ranked 47th among 77 shows, tied with NBC's Red Skelton.

It certainly packs a punch. Archie's sneering scorn for anyone who does not fit his idea of a 100 per cent American has shock value. And there is some prickly humor in the sarcastic exchanges between Archie and his more liberal son-in-law.

The series flaw is that no one in the regular cast is remotely likeable or a personality with whom one can identify. Archie is a loud, narrow-minded bull. His wife and daughter are subservient dopes and his son-in-law is unattractive and argumentative.

A great debate rages about the show's content. Does the portrait of a bigot who uses derogatory terms for minorities open a semiconcealed sore as if by surgery? Fans of the show believe it does. Others feel that it has the opposite effect, reinforcing such attitudes and making them acceptable.

However, television in most areas does not have captive audiences so those who find "All in the Family" objectionable and upsetting have merely to turn to another channel.

At this time, the series' chances for renewal next season seem bright.

NBC's "First Tuesday" concentrated, in its longest feature, on the dangerous, hard work and financial problems of steel workers and their families. It was a sympathetic portrait of men who, one said, "become important only when we are on strike and not important other times." It also contained some dramatic film showing the fiery steel mills.

Liveliest moments in the two hours came with a report on the pollution explosion and building boom in ski areas of Colorado.

Highway Department Opens Bids On Major Road Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways has opened bids on projects which the state had estimated to cost $1.45 million, and for which low bids totaled $1.28 million.

These were for bridge and culvert projects. Other projects put the low bids into the multi-million figure. They were:

HANCOCK COUNTY — Replace Ohio 12 bridge over Moffitt Ditch, southwest of Benton Ridge; apparent low bid Brantz Brothers, Inc., Sidney, $78,693; state estimate $87,500. Also 1.4-mile extension of County Road 95 including new bridge over Blanchard River in Findlay and Marion Township; apparent low bid Harper Supply Inc. and Miller Brothers, Napoleon, joint bid, $820,997; state estimate $995,800. MONTGOMERY — Furnish and erect traffic signs on 3.7 miles of —75 and Ohio 1 in Dayton; apparent low bid Whitaker-Merrell Co., Columbus, $550,063; state estimate $700,000. MEDINA, SUMMIT — Resurface 13.9 miles of I-80S, apparent low bid Hancock Asphalt and Paving Co., Carey, $1,218,

752; state estimate $1,661,700. KNOX — Replace Ohio 514 bridge over Mohican River in Jefferson Township; apparent low bid Benton Bridge Construction Co., $449,985; state estimate, $454,000. MORGAN — Construct new access road to Burr Oak State Park; apparent low bid Lox Construction Co. Wooster, $148,839; state estimate $234,000. ALLEN — Replace Ohio 117 bridge over Auglaize River in Auglaize Township; apparent low bid Sherburn Excavating Co., Van Wert, $153,501; state estimate $159,000. SCIOTO — Construction 0.9-mile access road to Joint Vocational School and Technical Center; apparent low bidder V & Y Construction Co., Circleville, $148,708; state estimate $156,500.

End Disorder At Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pickets paced outside Central High School Tuesday and plainclothes policemen patrolled corridors inside, but there were no disorders.

School officials identified some of the dozen black pickets as students who were suspended after disturbances closed the school Friday.

Meanwhile, at McGuffey Elementary-Junior High School, scene of a brief disturbance Monday, parents of some students met with Principal Frank D. Mason and his assistant, John F. Busse, to discuss the trouble.

"Most of the parents are cooperative," Busse said. "Perhaps we can get back to normal business — educating students."

Seven students arrested during that disturbance are scheduled for juvenile court hearings.

End Disorder At Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pickets paced outside Central High School Tuesday and plainclothes policemen patrolled corridors inside, but there were no disorders.

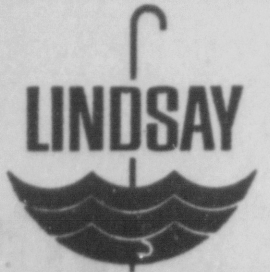

School officials identified some of the dozen black pickets as students who were suspended after disturbances closed the school Friday.

Meanwhile, at McGuffey Elementary-Junior High School, scene of a brief disturbance Monday, parents of some students met with Principal Frank D. Mason and his assistant, John F. Busse, to discuss the trouble.

"Most of the parents are cooperative," Busse said. "Perhaps we can get back to normal business — educating students."

Seven students arrested during that disturbance are scheduled for juvenile court hearings.

Battle For Space Shuttle Launching Base Shapes Up

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Quietly and outside the limelight, a big battle is shaping up among various states for a huge economic prize: location of the launching base for the space shuttle of the future.

Cape Kennedy, from where man first went to the moon, is the leading contender in the treasure hunt.

But its premier position is being threatened by California and New Mexico. Oklahoma and Utah also are in the running, but are given only the slightest chance to pick the plum.

At stake are billions of dollars, thousands of jobs and a possible economic boom for the area that wins the launching site for the shuttle, the reusable spaceship, scheduled for operation later this decade.

Politicians and lobbyists, backed by hundreds of thousands of dollars, are hard at work in Washington, trying to convince President Nixon and Congress that the space shuttle should be launched from their respective states.

A decision may come later this year.

Cape Kennedy is the leading candidate because the National Aeronautics and Space Administration already has invested $1.5 billion here for land and for launch and support facilities for the Apollo moon program and other projects.

But the shuttle will be a unique craft, and some advantages that favored Cape Kennedy on earlier programs might now work to its disadvantage.

The complex vehicle is being developed to ferry man and supplies between the earth and orbiting space stations. It will be a fully reusable two-stage craft which will take off vertically.

The booster stage, the size of a Boeing 747 jumbo jet and manned by two pilots, will kick the orbital section into space and then turn around and fly back to the launch site, landing on a runway like a conventional aircraft.

The Boeing 707-sized orbital section, with two pilots and 12 or more passengers and 50,000 pounds of cargo, will continue to the space station. It later will return to earth with equipment and passengers from the space lab. It also will land like a plane.

Both segments of the shuttle will be designed to fly 100 or more times, greatly reducing the cost of operating in space. The pricetag for the Saturn 5 rocket and spaceships for the current Apollo moon launch program is $325 million and none of the hardware is reusable.

One Cape Kennedy disadvantage for the shuttle is that the launch area is nearly surrounded by the Atlantic Ocean. That made it ideal for the Mercury, Gemini and Apollo programs and unmanned launchings because the no-longer-needed booster rockets were dumped into waters offshore without endangering populated areas.

If either the booster or orbital section of a space shuttle should stray or takeoff or landing, it might land in the ocean's salt water. Recovery would be difficult and the resulting corrosion could render it no longer useable.

The other candidate states, noting this and other Cape weaknesses, began touting their areas many months ago.

California is backing either Edwards Air Force Base or Vandenberg Air Force Base.

New Mexico favors its White Sands Missile Range, and Utah is pushing Wendover Air Force Base on the Utah-Nevada line. Oklahoma has suggested Clinton-Sherman Air Force Base.

Most observers feel Utah and Oklahoma are out of the running and their campaigns have been lukewarm compared with the others.

A 12-man NASA facilities group headed by Robert H. Curtin will make the choice, probably late this year.

"We have looked at dozens of sites," Curtin said. "The objective is to make sure none of the bets is missed."

NASA originally had hoped to begin flight-testing the shuttle in 1974 and to have an operational version ready to support a 12-man space station by 1976, with the station growing to 50 or more men and women by 1980. But Congress has been reluctant to vote heavy funding at a time when the country has more earthly problems. As a result all target dates have slipped at least two years.

By the time four or five operational craft are built, it is estimated that $6 billion to $8 billion will be spent on the project.

The hard-pressed California aerospace industry, which has laid off some 200,000 workers in the last four years, is expected to receive a good share of the hardware development money for both the shuttle and the space station. These contracts will be worth several billion dollars.

But in the long run it will be the launching base area which benefits most because NASA envisions a continuing shuttle program for two or more decades.

with 25 to 75 launches a year. Florida interests have counterattacked, noting that among the $1.5 million NASA investment here are 88,000 acres on which a runway of any desired length could be built. They also argue that emergency air fields are available elsewhere in Florida and others could be established in Bermuda or the Bahamas. In California, Gov. Ronald Reagan recently named a committee of prominent citizens to work to attract large portions of the shuttle budget to their state.

The committee received a budget of $250,000. The effort has Republicans Reagan and Rep. Barry Goldwater Jr. working closely with such political opponents as Democratic Sens. Alan Cranston and John V. Tunney.

Of the two potential California sites, Vandenberg, jutting into the Pacific, would be ideal for military polar orbits. But it has more bad weather than the other sites and lacks a suitable air strip. And, like Cape Kennedy, it is nearly surrounded by salt water.

Juvenile Crime Shows Little Increase

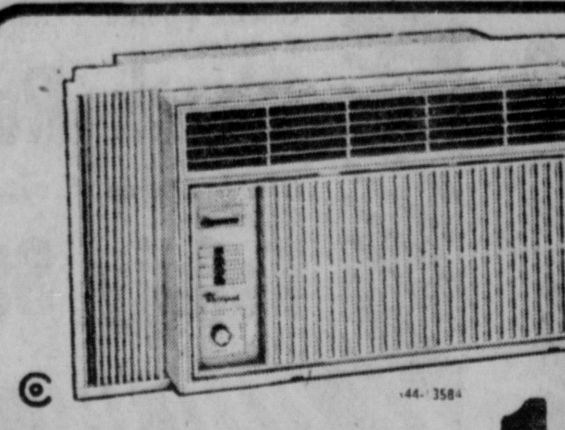

HOUSTON (AP) — Although the crime rate in Houston is growing faster than the population, the increase in juvenile crime during the past three years has been negligible, officials say.

A spokesman for the Houston Police Department's juvenile division said most of the increase during the past few years is because of better record keeping by the police rather than an actual boost in crime.

The complex vehicle is being developed to ferry man and supplies between the earth and orbiting space stations. It will be a fully reusable two-stage craft which will take off vertically.

The booster stage, the size of a Boeing 747 jumbo jet and manned by two pilots, will kick the orbital section into space and then turn around and fly back to the launch site, landing on a runway like a conventional aircraft.

The Boeing 707-sized orbital section, with two pilots and 12 or more passengers and 50,000 pounds of cargo, will continue to the space station. It later will return to earth with equipment and passengers from the space lab. It also will land like a plane.

Both segments of the shuttle will be designed to fly 100 or more times, greatly reducing the cost of operating in space. The pricetag for the Saturn 5 rocket and spaceships for the current Apollo moon launch program is $325 million and none of the hardware is reusable.

One Cape Kennedy disadvantage for the shuttle is that the launch area is nearly surrounded by the Atlantic Ocean. That made it ideal for the Mercury, Gemini and Apollo programs and unmanned launchings because the no-longer-needed booster rockets were dumped into waters offshore without endangering populated areas.

If either the booster or orbital section of a space shuttle should stray or takeoff or landing, it might land in the ocean's salt water. Recovery would be difficult and the resulting corrosion could render it no longer useable.

The other candidate states, noting this and other Cape weaknesses, began touting their areas many months ago.

California is backing either Edwards Air Force Base or Vandenberg Air Force Base.

New Mexico favors its White Sands Missile Range, and Utah is pushing Wendover Air Force Base on the Utah-Nevada line. Oklahoma has suggested Clinton-Sherman Air Force Base.

Most observers feel Utah and Oklahoma are out of the running and their campaigns have been lukewarm compared with the others.

A 12-man NASA facilities group headed by Robert H. Curtin will make the choice, probably late this year.

"We have looked at dozens of sites," Curtin said. "The objective is to make sure none of the bets is missed."

NASA originally had hoped to begin flight-testing the shuttle in 1974 and to have an operational version ready to support a 12-man space station by 1976, with the station growing to 50 or more men and women by 1980. But Congress has been reluctant to vote heavy funding at a time when the country has more earthly problems. As a result all target dates have slipped at least two years.

By the time four or five operational craft are built, it is estimated that $6 billion to $8 billion will be spent on the project.

The hard-pressed California aerospace industry, which has laid off some 200,000 workers in the last four years, is expected to receive a good share of the hardware development money for both the shuttle and the space station. These contracts will be worth several billion dollars.

But in the long run it will be the launching base area which benefits most because NASA envisions a continuing shuttle program for two or more decades.

with 25 to 75 launches a year.

Florida interests have counterattacked, noting that among the $1.5 billion NASA investment here are 88,000 acres on which a runway of any desired length could be built. They also argue that emergency air fields are available elsewhere in Florida and others could be established in Bermuda or the Bahamas.

In California, Gov. Ronald Reagan recently named a committee of prominent citizens to work to attract large portions of the shuttle budget to their state.

The committee received a budget of $250,000.

The effort has Republicans Reagan and Rep. Barry Goldwater Jr. working closely with such political opponents as Democratic Sens. Alan Cranston and John V. Tunney.

Of the two potential California sites, Vandenberg, jutting into the Pacific, would be ideal for military polar orbits. But it has more bad weather than the other sites and lacks a suitable air strip. And, like Cape Kennedy, it is nearly surrounded by salt water.

Juvenile Crime Shows Little Increase

HOUSTON (AP) — Although the crime rate in Houston is growing faster than the population, the increase in juvenile crime during the past three years has been negligible, officials say.

A spokesman for the Houston Police Department's juvenile division said most of the increase during the past few years is because of better record keeping by the police rather than an actual boost in crime.

Saul Bellow Wins Award For Best Fiction Of 1970

The Circleville Herald, Wed. Mar. 3, 1971 13
Circleville, Ohio

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Saul Bellow has won the 1970 National Book Award for fiction prize for "Mr. Sammler's Planet" in ceremonies marked by a tempest in the poet's corner.

Bellow was the unanimous choice of the fiction judges but the poetry panel split 4 to 1 in naming Mona Van Duyn winner in that category for "To See, To Take."

Discontent was poet Allen Ginsberg who took the podium during the ceremonies at the Hotel Biltmore Tuesday to denounce the choice of his fellow jurors as "ignominious, insensitive and mediocre." He supported Gregory Corso's "Elegaic Poems American."

Earlier the entire poetry panel had selected every one of the titles nominated through a nationwide poll of librarians, book-sellers and critics and substituted their own nominees.

Similarly dismissed after nomination was Erich Segal's best selling novel "Love Story."

It was eliminated in January after the fiction panel termed it "unworthy" and threatened to resign en masse unless it was withdrawn.

Bellow's award was his third. His previous winners were "The Adventures of Augie March" in 1954 and "Herzog" in 1965.

"Mr. Sammler's Planet," published by Viking Press, is the story of a half-blind old Pole who wanders through New York's Upper West Side while speculating on the future of the planet. The awards are sponsored by the National Book Committee, a nonprofit trade association, and are presented in seven categories. Each award carries a $1,000 cash prize.

The other categories and winners were:

Arts and Letters—"Cocteau," a biography of Jean Cocteau by Francis Steegmuller, published by Atlantic, Little, Brown.

History and Biography—"Roosevelt—The Soldier of Freedom," a study of the wartime president by James MacGregor Burns of Williams College. It was published by Harcourt Brace Jovanovich. Children's Books—"The Marvelous Misadventures of Sebastian," by Lloyd Alexander, published by E.P. Dutton.

The Sciences—"Science in the British Colonies of America," by Raymond Phineas Stearns, published by the University of Illinois Press.

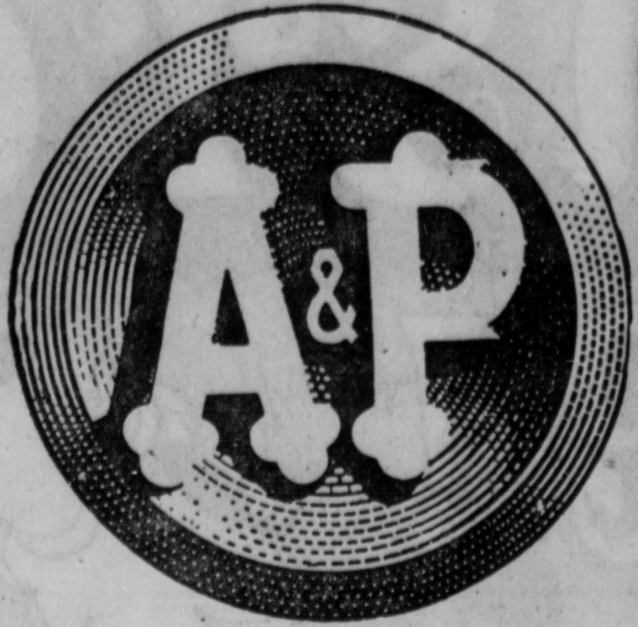

Translation—A dual award went to Frank Jones for his translation of Bertolt Brecht's "Saint Joan of the Stockyards," published by the Indiana University Press, and to Edward G. Seldensticker for his translation of Yasunari Kawabata's "The Sound of the Mountain," published by Alfred A. Knopf.

Davis Selected As Special Counsel
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — year of Gov. John J. Gilligan's Atty. Gen. William J. Brown has named Jacob Davis II of Columbus special counsel for Ohio State University. He succeeds Huntington Carlisle of Columbus.

Davis is the son of Cincinnati businessman Jacob E. Davis, who was chairman earlier this year of Gov. John J. Gilligan's Task Force on Tax Reform. The elder Davis was an OSU trustee from 1961-67.

Derby News

Mrs. Georgia Sweet — 869-2462

I'll start out this week's news with a reminder about the Gospel Sing to be held at Westfall High School, 2 p.m. Sunday. Special guest singers will be the Blackwood Singers from Nashville, Tenn. accompanied by the Laymen Quartet and the Gospel Team, and emceed by Terry Bock. Tickets may be obtained from Tommy Musselman here at Derby, or from any Westfall Booster member or member of the Monroe's Men's Club.

Also on March 17 the Westfall High School band will present a concert at the school at 7:30 p.m. The band is also making plans for a band contest to be held on March 20.

A team of witnesses from Mt. Vernon Nazarene College will be present March 20, at the Southwest Church of the Nazarene for the morning services next Sunday. There will also be a youth fellowship meeting with them at 7:30 on Saturday evening at the church on Ballah Road.

The team will assist in visitation on the weekend.

Bruce Jankowski, star end for the O.S.U. football team will be the special guest speaker Sunday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brown has been transferred closer to home, having been moved from Madison Elms last week to the nursing home in Derby. (formerly the Kilpatrick residence). Her condition remains about the same.

Debbie and Mike Wardell were both on the sick list last week with the flu, but are feeling a lot better now.

Miss Grace Minshall has been suffering from a severe cold but we are glad to hear that she too is on the mend.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Wardell have returned from a two week vacation in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Clark of Clark's Lake spent the past month traveling west and covered 9000 miles sightseeing in the Painted Desert, Grand Canyon, Petrified Forest, San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge, Fisherman's Wharf, Chinatown, Las Vegas, then east to Texas, and Phoenix, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wardell and children Debbie and Mike visited with the William Deyos of near Mt. Sterling.

Columbia Gas Pays Tax Bill

Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., and its associate companies — the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and the Ohio Valley Gas Co. — spent more than $23.6 million to pay state and local tax bills during 1970, according to D. H. Murray, Circleville manager for Columbia Gas of Ohio.

Murray said this is $2.7 million more than the $20.9 million in state and local taxes paid by the companies in 1969.

He pointed out that "except for money spent to purchase gas, taxes (including federal taxes) are the companies' largest single expenditure."

In Pickaway County, Murray said the three companies paid a total of $103,988 in property taxes. This is an increase of $916 over the amount paid in 1969 and is due to the construction of new pipelines and other facilities in the county during the past year.

Statewide the three companies paid more than $11.7 million in property taxes in 70 counties in 1970. These taxes were distributed to tax districts for school operations and county, township, city and village government purposes. Some 408 school districts received about 78 per cent of this amount.

The companies also paid more than $11.5 million in state excise taxes. More than $331,000 was paid to the state under the Ohio sales and use tax and Public Utilities Commission maintenance tax.

In addition to state and local taxes, Columbia Gas of Ohio, Ohio Fuel Gas and Ohio Valley Gas paid more than $21 million in federal income taxes and $1.6 million in other federal taxes.

Vandalized Fire Truck Repaired

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The Westboro Township volunteer fire department is ready to serve again. Its fire truck has been repaired.

The Clinton County Sheriff's office said that vandals broke into the township building Sunday night and chopped the truck's tires "to ribbons" with a fire ax. The truck was out of service Monday and part of Tuesday.

Behind the building, a gasoline pump was smashed. All the wiring was ripped from the township tractor and the glass in the cab of the township grader was smashed.

Court Active In February

Common Pleas Court business for February was up over last year's activity, according to the monthly report of Sara Dresbach, clerk.

A total of 43 cases were filed last month and the same number taken off the books. Cases pending total 295.

Last year for this period, 30 cases were added on the docket and 37 disposed of, with 237 remaining on the docket.

In a breakdown of new cases, 12 concerned marital relations, 18 civil actions and 13 criminal suits.

Of those settled, two criminal and two civil matters were tried to court, one criminal matter came before a jury, two contested domestic relation cases received court trials and 11 had hearings on uncontested domestic suits.

Eight guilty pleas were accepted from persons held in criminal matters before they came to trial eight marital matters and seven other civil suits were dismissed during February and two civil matters received judgments by default by cognovit writ or default of one party.

In the court of appeals three cases received judgment, leaving three other suits of appeal on the docket.

Bond Reduction For Nott Denied

Judge Guy Cline, acting Common Pleas Court judge, refused a reduction in bond Monday afternoon for Henry Nott.

Nott, 29, of Columbus, was apprehended by city police for the break-in last month at the home of Dr. Robert Smith, 918 Circle Drive.

Bond was set Feb. 15 at $50,000 for both Nott and a Terry Lee Richardson, 22, also of Columbus. Both have long records of criminal offenses.

Nott and his attorney, Robert Sanders of a Columbus law firm, petitioned the court to reduce bond to $10,000 an amount which they had been able to raise. They requested the reduction, pleading Nott had children to support and could be released to keep his job at a Harrisburg tavern.

Also present was County Prosecutor Roy H. Huffer Jr.

Drug Law Offenders Get Chance

CINCINNATI (AP) — Drug law offenders in Hamilton County may be spared from being sent to prison, or from being placed on probation with no help for rehabilitation.

Fred Joffe, president of the board of trustees of the Talbert House, and John McCart, its executive director, outlined a program Tuesday which may present a third alternative for persons convicted of drugs violations.

The plan would be called "The Narcotic Out-Client and Residential Program," an effort to break the drug-jail-drug syndrome of many area residents who are involved with drugs.

Joffe and McCart, of the Talbert House which is a half-day house here for ex-convicts, said that the program would be conducted from a residential site in the city with facilities for 20 to 25 persons to live, and an additional 20 to 40 persons to be treated as out clients.

The officials said that a defendant would be referred for the program by a judge. They said that each participant would have to provide three drug-free urine samples a week, and would have to attend group sessions. Employment counseling or vocational training would be available.

The program would cost about $5,640 a month and Joffe and McCart said that federal funds may be available in July.

C Of C Board Has Meeting

Board of Directors of Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce held a brief luncheon session Tuesday noon at the Pickaway Arms.

The only business transacted was the acceptance of an application for membership in the chamber from John Myers Jr., who operates a plumbing business in Circleville.

Guest at the noon meeting was Dennis Murray, local manager for Columbia Gas of Ohio.

Following the abbreviated session, a tour of the chamber's new headquarters on W. Main Street was offered to directors in attendance.

Attorney Faces IRS Charges

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal grand jury has returned three counts of income tax evasion against a lawyer-accountant from suburban Madeira.

Harold Lowenstein, named in the true bills Tuesday, was charged with evading personal income taxes in 1964 and 1965, and with evading corporate income tax for the year ending June 30, 1964, when he was president of the G.W. Davis Corp., a lawn mower manufacturer in Richmond, Ind.

On his personal return for 1964, the indictment said that Lowenstein reported income of $22,726.91 and taxes of $5,647.15 instead of income of $105,089.55 and taxes of $49,584.92. For the corporation, the indictment said that he reported taxable income of $79,321.98 and taxes of $31,393.82 although $65,578.89 should have been paid on $146,367.66.

Copilot Blamed For 31-Death Plane Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal board said today the 31-death Wichita State University football disaster could have been avoided if the copilot of the chartered plane had realized only a minute sooner that he was flying into a dead-end canyon.

The National Transportation Safety Board made the finding in its official report on the Oct. 2 crash of an aging overweight propeller plane on the slopes of the Continental Divide west of Denver while the team was flying to Utah State.

The board said the copilot, Ronad G. Skipper, 35, Oklahoma City, had decided to fly through the Rocky Mountains "purely for sightseeing purposes." But it said he presumably spent no time studying the aerial charts he bought at a Denver stop.

The NTSB fixed the official cause of the crash as the intentional flight through a mountain valley at such a low level that the plane could neither turn around safely nor climb over the steep mountain ridge that suddenly appeared in front of it.

The board quoted testimony by Skipper, who was flying the plane, that indicated he didn't know the ridge was the Contimental Divide until after the crash. Skipper was one of nine crash survivors.

The NTSB said if the crew had become concerned about clearing the terrain "less than one minute sooner," it would have been able to turn and go back. But another mountain blocked the view of the valley's sudden end at Loveland Pass until it was too late to escape the crash, the NTSB said.

The board criticized the "virtual absence of flight planning" for the mountain route as being a significant factor in the crash. It also ruled the Martin 404 plane, making its first passenger flight after three years in mothballs, was an estimated 5,165 pounds overweight when it took off from Denver.

The NTSB already has upheld the revocation of the commercial flying license of Golden Eagle Aviation, Inc., of Oklahoma City, which supplied the crew.

Skipper is president of Golden Eagle. Although he was listed as copilot for the plane, the NTSB said it was he who made the decision to change the route and who was flying the plane up the narrow valley.

A second Wichita State plane reached Logan, Utah, safely after climbing north from Denver to Wyoming before turning westward to clear the Rockies at a safe height. Skipper's plane had been scheduled to follow this route also, the NTSB said.

The tragedy sparked an investigation of loopholes in the way the Federal Aviation Administration regulates charter flights.

The NTSB said "the numerous deficiencies, unsafe practices, and deviations from regulations, involved in this operation, are typical" of charter flights when no single participant admits responsibility for its safety.

It agreed with the FAA that the regulations should be tightened, but the board questioned whether current FAA proposals, aimed at the schools leasing the planes, would do the job.

Instead, the NTSB suggested several other possibilities, including more detailed FAA rules on leases and new requirements for all large aircraft.

The board also told the FAA it might try "more vigorous enforcement of existing rules."

Still No Capital Bombing Culprit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bombing that wrecked an area of offices in the Capitol has produced a host of theories, a flurry of false bomb scares, a letter claiming credit and a call for tighter security—everything but a culprit.

Most of the theories that floated up in the 48 hours following the early Monday explosion were shot down by various authorities while the only people who would really know anything, the FBI, maintained a strict silence.

The city reacted variously to a number of callers emulating the telephonic voice that told a Capitol switchboard operator 30 minutes before the blast: "This is in protest of the Nixon involvement in Laos."

Congress remained in session despite at least six calls threatening new bombings. Similar warnings were received—and proved false—at five other federal buildings Tuesday. Only one, occupied by a section of the Defense Department, was evacuated.

A person or persons sent air mail, special delivery letters to The Associated Press and The New York Post claiming credit for the bombing. Signed the "Weather Underground," the letter said "We have attacked the Capitol because it is . . . a monument to US domination over the planet."

The five-page, single-spaced typed letter received by the AP, dated Feb. 28 and posted March 1 in Elizabeth, N.J., was turned over to the FBI.

In the two days since the blast, the Senate pondered how to prevent similar incidents without blocking free access of Americans to the seat of their government. Checking packages and briefcases carried by visitors was one suggestion.

The Senate's subcommittee on buildings and grounds was told by an Army explosives expert the blast, which destroyed a ground floor men's room and damaged nearby offices and a barber shop, could have been caused by 15 to 20 sticks of dynamite set off by a clock-like timing device.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell shied away from proclaiming the blast was the result of a conspiracy.

"There has been no indication as yet that it might have been the work of a conspiracy," Mitchell told newsmen at the White House where he conferred with President Nixon.

A second theory—that the bomb was planted by a Capitol employee—was denied by Capitol Police Chief James M. Powell.

Questioning of Capitol employees by FBI agents led to some speculation that the bombing was an inside job. Powell, however, said the interrogation of the employees was more an indication of the FBI's thoroughness than of suspicion that one of them might have committed the act.

Pickaway Grange Report

SCIOTO GRANGE

It was Men's Night at Scioto Valley Grange last week. The men cooked and served a delicious dinner to the ladies and other guests.

Special guests were the following members of The Revelation Quartet: Richard P. Cook, Charles Cromley, Ralph Peters Jr., and Charles Thomas and their accompanist, Mrs. Don Wean.

Also present were Herman Berger, Mrs. Charles Cromley and Don Wean.

The quartet presented a splendid musical program following the dinner.

Miss Penny Louden was present and judged the Chocolate-Date Cake contest following the dinner. There were 14 entries. Winners were as follows — 1. Mrs. Chester Fausnaugh; 2. Mrs. Paul Kuhlwein; 3. Mrs. Ralph Fisher; 4. Mrs. Donald Diehl.

Following the concert, Miss Louden spoke to the ladies about coming styles and materials for dresses. All agreed it was a very excellent talk.

On March 2, Scioto Valley Grange will be the guest of Nebraska Grange at their Annual Oyster Supper at 6:30. Following the supper Scioto Valley Grange will present a program to Nebraska Grange.

On March 9, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Leatherwood will show their Holy Land pictures at Scioto Valley Grange at 9 p.m. Any one wishing to see the pictures is very welcome.

STAR GRANGE

Inspection was the highlight of the evening when Star Grange met in regular session Tuesday evening Feb. 23 with Paul Dunkle, Pickaway County Deputy, Joan Dawson, Junior Deputy and Mrs. Eloise Dunkle as guests.

The worthy master, Harold Furniss presided over the business session and heard the various reports. The secretary, Helen Hammel read a letter of appreciation from Frances Grabbill Neff for the flowers and many beautiful cards she received while she was in the hospital. A contribution was made to the Heart Fund. The Pomona Grange Banquet, Feb. 27 at the 4-H and Grange building was announced.

Star Grange will serve the Bloodmobile canteen on Friday and members are urged to help with the project. The fourth degree was conferred in a most pleasing manner by the officers of the Grange.

Dunkle gave a very interesting annual report and well chosen remarks. The Lecturer, Laura Long presented the program "Important Days of February" which began with group singing "America". Jimmy Beathard portrayed George Washington, Harold Furniss, Abraham Lincoln, Herman Porter, William Henry Harrison, Carroll Reid sang a solo, "In the Garden". Other birthdays honored were Victor Herbert, Babe Ruth, Queen Anne, Longfellow, Thomas A. Edison, Lindbergh, Mary Lyons.

Members assisting with these were Robert Morgan, Doris Beathard, Carroll Reid, Marie Reid, Mabel Stoer, Ethel Furniss, Frances Follrod, and Bradley Reid. Mrs. Clyde Michel read "The Children's Hour" by Longfellow, and a clothes pin contest was held. Mrs. Carroll Reid read "A Valentine" and Nancy Morgan favored us with a flute solo, "Gaucho". Helen Phillips gave a reading, "My Valentine Wish" and the program closed with group singing, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, tea and punch were served.

Marine Leaders Fight Plan For Faster Viet Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Pentagon civilians want to speed withdrawal of the remaining U.S. Marines from Vietnam but corps leaders have objected, Defense sources say.

I approved, an accelerated schedule could bring most of the remaining 23,000 Marines out of Vietnam within the next couple of months, instead of July.

Marine leaders reportedly have argued a stepped-up pull-out would weaken allied forces in the vital northernmost region of South Vietnam while the outcome of the South Vietnamese drive against enemy supply routes in Laos still was in doubt.

Although they have made no firm public commitments, President Nixon and Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird have held out hopes the U.S.-supported South Vietnamese operations in Laos and Cambodia will lead to acceleration of U.S. troop withdrawals from the war zone.

Removal of the major Marine air and ground units would leave behind, for the time being, some logistics elements, advisers to the South Vietnamese marines, and some scattered personnel assigned to the U.S. Command headquarters structure.

This would effectively end Marine involvement in the war which Marine ground units entered for the first time six years ago.

During six years in the Vietnam war, more than 12,900 Marines have been killed in action. Total U.S. battle deaths top 44,500.

The Marine Corps, which swelled to a Vietnam war peak strength of 315,000, is on its way down, along with all U.S. armed forces.

According to latest statistics, the Marine Corps has about 230,000 men, headed for a leveling-off at about 200,000.

Court Active In February

Common Pleas Court business for February was up over last year's activity, according to the monthly report of Sara Dresbach, clerk.

A total of 43 cases were filed last month and the same number taken off the books. Cases pending total 295.

Last year for this period, 30 cases were added on the docket and 37 disposed of, with 237 remaining on the docket.

In a breakdown of new cases, 12 concerned marital relations, 18 civil actions and 13 criminal suits.

Of those settled, two criminal and two civil matters were tried to court, one criminal matter came before a jury, two contested domestic relation cases received court trials and 11 had hearings on uncontested domestic suits.

Eight guilty pleas were accepted from persons held in criminal matters before they came to trial eight marital matters and seven other civil suits were dismissed during February and two civil matters received judgments by default by cognovit writ or default of one party.

In the court of appeals three cases received judgment, leaving three other suits of appeal on the docket.

Bond Reduction For Nott Denied

Judge Guy Cline, acting Common Pleas Court judge, refused a reduction in bond Monday afternoon for Henry Nott.

Nott, 29, of Columbus, was apprehended by city police for the break-in last month at the home of Dr. Robert Smith, 918 Circle Drive.

Bond was set Feb. 15 at $50,000 for both Nott and a Terry Lee Richardson, 22, also of Columbus. Both have long records of criminal offenses.

Nott and his attorney, Robert Sanders of a Columbus law firm, petitioned the court to reduce bond to $10,000, an amount which they had been able to raise. They requested the reduction, pleading Nott had children to support and could be released to keep his job at a Harrisburg tavern.

Also present was County Prosecutor Roy H. Huffer Jr.

Drug Law Offenders Get Chance

CINCINNATI (AP) — Drug law offenders in Hamilton County may be spared from being sent to prison, or from being placed on probation with no help for rehabilitation.

Fred Joffe, president of the board of trustees of the Talbert House, and John McCarth, its executive director, outlined a program Tuesday which may present a third alternative for persons convicted of drugs violations.

The plan would be called "The Narcotic Out-Client and Residential Program," an effort to break the drug-jail-drug-jail syndrome of many area residents who are involved with drugs.

Joffe and McCarth, of the Talbert House which is a half-way house here for ex-convicts, said that the program would be conducted from a residential site in the city with facilities for 20 to 25 persons to live, and an additional 20 to 40 persons to be treated as out clients.

The officials said that a defendant would be referred for the program by a judge. They said that each participant would have to provide three drug-free urine samples a week, and would have to attend group sessions. Employment counseling or vocational training would be available.

The program would cost about $5,640 a month and Joffe and McCarth said that federal funds may be available in July.

C Of C Board Has Meeting

Board of Directors of Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce held a brief luncheon session Tuesday noon at the Pickaway Arms.

The only business transacted was the acceptance of an application for membership in the chamber from John Myers Jr., who operates a plumbing business in Circleville.

Guest at the noon meeting was Dennis Murray, local manager for Columbia Gas of Ohio.

Following the abbreviated session, a tour of the chamber's new headquarters on W. Main Street was offered to directors in attendance.

Attorney Faces IRS Charges

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal grand jury has returned three counts of income tax evasion against a lawyer-accountant from suburban Madeira.

Harold Lowenstein, named in the true bills Tuesday, was charged with evading personal income taxes in 1964 and 1965, and with evading corporate income tax for the year ending June 30, 1964, when he was president of the G.W. Davis Corp., a lawn mower manufacturer in Richmond, Ind.

On his personal return for 1964, the indictment said that Lowenstein reported income of $22,726.91 and taxes of $5,647.15 instead of income of $105,089.55 and taxes of $49,584.92. For the corporation, the indictment said that he reported taxable income of only $79,321.98 and taxes of $31,393.82 although $65,578.89 should have been paid on $146,367.66.

Copilot Blamed For 31-Death Plane Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal board said today the 31-death Wichita State University football disaster could have been avoided if the copilot of the chartered plane had realized only a minute sooner that he was flying into a dead-end canyon.

The National Transportation Safety Board made the finding in its official report on the Oct. 2 crash of an aging overweight propeller plane on the slopes of the Continental Divide west of Denver while the team was flying to Utah State.

The board said the copilot, Ronald G. Skipper, 35, Oklahoma City, had decided to fly through the Rocky Mountains "purely for sightseeing purposes." But it said he presumably spent no time studying the aerial charts he bought at a Denver stop.

The NTSB fixed the official cause of the crash as the intentional flight through a mountain valley at such a low level that the plane could neither turn around safely nor climb over the steep mountain ridge that suddenly appeared in front of it.

The board quoted testimony by Skipper, who was flying the plane, that indicated he didn't know the ridge was the Continental Divide until after the crash. Skipper was one of nine crash survivors.

The NTSB said if the crew had become concerned about clearing the terrain "less than one minute sooner," it would have been able to turn and go back. But another mountain blocked the view of the valley's sudden end at Loveland Pass until it was too late to escape the crash, the NTSB said.

The board criticized the "virtual absence of flight planning" for the mountain route as being a significant factor in the crash. It also ruled the Martin 404 plane, making its first passenger flight after three years in

Still No Capitol Bombing Culprit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bombing that wrecked an area of offices in the Capitol has produced a host of theories, a flurry of false bomb scares, a letter claiming credit and a call for tighter security—everything but a culprit.

Most of the theories that floated up in the 48 hours following the early Monday explosion were shot down by various authorities while the only people who would really know anything, the FBI, maintained a strict silence.

The city reacted variously to a number of callers emulating the telephonic voice that told a Capitol switchboard operator 30 minutes before the blast: "This is in protest of the Nixon involvement in Laos."

Congress remained in session despite at least six calls threatening new bombings. Similar warnings were received—and proved false—at five other federal buildings Tuesday. Only one, occupied by a section of the Defense Department, was evacuated.

A person or persons sent air mail, special delivery letters to The Associated Press and The New York Post claiming credit for the bombing. Signed the "Weather Underground," the letter said "We have attacked the Capitol because it is . . . a monument to US domination over the planet."

The five-page, single-spaced typed letter received by the AP, dated Feb. 28 and posted March 1 in Elizabeth, N.J., was turned over to the FBI.

In the two days since the blast, the Senate pondered how to prevent similar incidents without blocking free access of Americans to the seat of their government. Checking packages and briefcases carried by visitors was one suggestion.

The Senate's subcommittee on buildings and grounds was told by an Army explosives expert the blast, which destroyed a ground floor men's room and damaged nearby offices and a barber shop, could have been caused by 15 to 20 sticks of dynamite set off by a clock-like timing device.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell shied away from proclaiming the blast was the result of a conspiracy.

"There has been no indication as yet that it might have been the work of a conspiracy," Mitchell told newsmen at the White House where he conferred with President Nixon.

A second theory—that the bomb was planted by a Capitol employee—was denied by Capitol Police Chief James M. Powell.

Questioning of Capitol employees by FBI agents led to some speculation that the bombing was an inside job. Powell, however, said the interrogation of the employees was more an indication of the FBI's thoroughness than of suspicion that one of them might have committed the act.

Adelphi Seeks Use Of Vacant School

Members of Adelphi Council and village Fire Chief Ray Hart will meet Monday with Trace Board of Education concerning acquisition of the vacant Adelphi School building.

The board will be approached to consider turning over the structure to the village for use as a fire department and town hall.

CENTRAL, SOUTHWEST — Travelers warnings. Cloudy and cold with snow today, accumulating two to four inches. Diminishing to flurries early tonight. Highs today in the lower 30s. Mostly cloudy and cold later tonight. Lows in the upper teens and low 20s. Variable cloudiness and cold Thursday, highs in the low and mid 30s.

EAST CENTRAL SOUTH-EAST — Heavy snow warnings. Cloudy, windy and cold with snow today, accumulating four inches or more. Diminishing to flurries tonight. Colder today. Highs today in the lower 30s. Lows tonight in the mid and low 20s. Thursday cloudy and cold with a chance of snow flurries. Highs in the low to mid 30s.

Lebanon GI Given Top Hero Medal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former track star at Lebanon High School has received the Medal of Honor for defying intense fire and personally destroying three enemy bunkers in Vietnam.

Army Sgt. Gordon R. Roberts, was among seven servicemen who were presented the nation's highest award for valor Tuesday by President Nixon.

Following the award, the recipients and their families took part in a brief White House ceremony, the first private ceremony held for living heroes.

"I was just doing a job for my country that I felt was necessary," Roberts said after receiving the award.

His mother, who came here with the rest of the Roberts family, said "It was just the greatest thing to happen to us."

When asked what helped prepare him for the service, Mrs. Roberts said that "he was a great cross-country runner and track man at Lebanon High School — people who saw him run said he would be hard to catch."

Sweeney President Of Solons' Society

Top Cage Teams Clash For Tourney Berths

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The NCAA and NIT are the folks issuing the college basketball invitations these days but Texas Christian, Ohio State, St. John's, Rutgers and Duke decided to do some bidding of their own Tuesday night while Southern Methodist's Gene Phillips won his hand in Texas.

After the NCAA picked its 19 at-large teams for its postseason extravaganza and the NIT named three, TCU won its way into the former with a 76-63 fight-marred victory over Texas A&M that clinched the Southwest Conference title for the Horned Frogs.

Ohio State, the Big Ten leader, moved closer to nailing down a berth by trimming Minnesota 84-70. NIT hopefuls St. John's and Rutgers posted

Bob Foster Stops Hal 'TNT' Carroll

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — "There ain't but one light heavyweight champion," said Bob Foster after stopping Hal "TNT" Carroll in the fourth of their scheduled 15-round title bout Tuesday night.

Foster disposed of Carroll at 2:32 of the fourth round, setting up the 30-year-old challenger from Syracuse, N.Y., with a left hook and then spreading him on the canvas with a blistering right.

It was the fifth successful defense by the 38-year-old Foster of the title he won in 1968 from Dick Tiger. The victory was the 42nd in 47 fights for the Washington, D.C., fighter and his 36th knockout.

89-74 and 92-68 triumphs over Holy Cross and Lafayette, respectively, while Duke, which wouldn't mind a trip to New York if it doesn't win the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament, turned back Clemson 70-60.

Three of Tuesday's NCAA selections were victorious at night. Ninth-ranked Jacksonville belted Miami of Florida 94-75, No. 11 Duquesne shelled Detroit 93-73 and 17th-rated Long Beach State downed Centenary 66-50.

The other NCAA at-large bids went to Marquette, Fordham, Houston, Notre Dame, Utah State, Villanova and New Mexico State. The NIT then tapped Dayton, St. Bonaventure and Tennessee.

And deep in the heart of Texas, SMU's Phillips poured in 51 points, wiping out the SWC mark of 50 held by the late Jim Krebs of SMU and Dub Malaise of Texas Tech. As the 6-foot-4 senior set his record by sinking two free throws with six seconds left at Texas' Gregory Gym, scattered pieces of paper floated to the floor and public address announcer Wally Pryor scolded: "I don't know who threw that, but I think that's one of the worst displays of sportsmanship I have ever seen. I think we should give Phillips a round of applause."

He got it. The Longhorns, however, got the victory 96-88. TCU's Eugene "Goo" Kennedy scored only eight points against A&M but pulled down 19 rebounds for a one-season SWC record of 239. The old mark of 235 was set by Doug Boyd, also of TCU. Simpson Degrate paced the winners with 29 points. Degrate and A&M's Wayne Howard started the fracas and Kennedy and Steve Niles also exchanged punches. TCU Coach Johnny Swam went to the mike after the fight and asked the crowd to stop throwing objects on the floor. No players were ejected.

Area Cagers Seek Second Tourney Wins

Teays Valley, Logan Elm and Laurelville will all be seeking victory number two in tournament warfare this week.

The Vikings of Teays Valley will meet Buckeye Valley in Class AA sectional action 9:30 p.m. tonight at the Fairgrounds Coliseum. The Vikings downed Fredericktown in first round action.

Class A sectional competition will find Logan Elm going against Canal Winchester 7 p.m. Friday at Lancaster and Laurelville meeting the winner of the Crooksville-Union Furnace contest 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Nelsonville-York.

Logan Elm beat Pickerington in the opening round and Laurelville topped Miller in its first encounter.

points and 20 rebounds helped Ohio State top Minnesota. The Buckeyes have an 11-1 conference mark with two games left while Indiana and Michigan both are 8-2 with four games remaining.

A balanced attack featured the St. John's triumph over Holy Cross with Mel Davis canning 20 points, Bill Phillips 16 and Billy Schaeffer and Mike Keilty 15 apiece. The winners are 16-8 with two games to go while the Crusaders finished at 18-8 and are still hoping for an NIT call.

Little John McFadden, normally a playmaker and reluctant shooter, scored a career high 21 points as Rutgers walloped Lafayette. Steve Kaplan led the Scarlet Knights with 22 and Gene Armstead had 20 while Lafayette's Tracy Tripucka scored 30.

Duke pulled away from a 32-all halftime tie with Clemson and hiked its record to 17-7 behind Randy Denton's 23 points. It was the seventh straight triumph for the Blue Devils.

Jacksonville, which meets Western Kentucky in its NCAA-opener, closed its regular season with a 22-3 slate by routing Miami as Harold Fox poured in 26 points, Artis Gilmore 21 and Enrie Fleming 20.

Barry Nelson scored 25 points and Mickey Davis 24 as Duquesne crushed Detroit, although the Ducks led by only two with 11½ minutes left. George Trapp led Long Beach past Centenary with 17 points.

Elsewhere, Cincinnati completed its 18th straight winning season by trouncing Buffalo 86-59. Ruben Vance scored 29 points for a Kent State season standard of 509 as the Golden Flashes nipped Penn State 86-85 in overtime and Wake Forest's Charlie Davis sank key free throws in the final minute in a 72-66 win over Maryland...on Charlie Davis Night.

Drake held off North Texas State 65-60 to clinch at least a tie for second in the Missouri Valley Conference. The Bulldogs also are an NIT possibility.

Other scores: Nebraska 87, Kansas State 71; Ohio U. 100, Western Michigan 70; Texas Tech 99, Rice 87; Baylor 111, Arkansas 110 in overtime.

Dark To Gather Data On Players

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Cleveland Indians manager Alvin Dark, who in his general manager role also negotiates player contracts, intends to be fully armed with each player's worth come next winter.

Dark said Tuesday during a lull in spring training that coach Kerby Farrell will compile a new set of statistics for him.

According to Dark, everytime a player does something good or bad this season, Farrell will make a note, including whether the performance was in a clutch situation.

Cincy Reds Sign Most Of Players

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, with only four players unsigned, participate today in their first intrasquad game of spring training.

Manager Sparky Anderson planned to pitch Ross Grimsley, Ed Sprague, Bud Harrelson, Pedro Bourbon and Nardi Contra. Grimsley, Sprague, Harrelson and Bourbon were also named by Anderson Tuesday to hurl Cincinnati's first exhibition contest -- Saturday against the Chicago White Sox.

On Tuesday, four players came to terms for 1971. They were pitcher Jim Merritt, slug-ging first baseman Lee May, reliever Wayne Granger and utility man Jimmy Stewart.

Merritt, sidelined late last year because of arm trouble, had been seeking a $15,000 raise and was believed to have signed for about $43,000, a hike of $13,000.

Anderson said that he was eager to see Merritt pitch "but I understand that his arm troubles all gone." Merritt was 20-12 in 1970.

The only unsigned players now are outfielders Pete Rose, Bernie Carbo and Bobby Tolan, and third baseman Tony Perez, and Carbo was a target for some sharp words from player personnel director Sheldon Bender.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of William R. Miller.
You are spending your Birthdays in Heaven.
I am sure that you will hear
Every time I whisper softly
Happy Birthday with all my Love
dear.
Sadly missed by mother,
Etta Miller

OSU Stops Minnesota; Wins 84-70

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fred Taylor admitted his Big Ten-leading Ohio State basketball squad had a letdown, but the Buckeyes still had enough staying power to whip Minnesota Tuesday night.

"You can't expect a performance like Saturday, as crazy as these kids were to play at Michigan," Taylor said after Ohio State dealt the Gophers an 84-70 setback.

Strong Field Set In Doral Eastern Open

MIAMI (AP) — Probably the strongest field of the year has been assembled for the $150,000 Doral-Eastern Open Golf Tournament, but, as usual, Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player figure to dominate things.

The absence of Billy Casper and Lee Trevino focuses attention even more sharply on the Big Three in this 72-hole test that begins Thursday on the demanding Blue Monster course at the Doral Country Club, a watery, 7,028 yard, par 72 layout.

Casper, the Masters champion who finished second to Nicklaus in last week's PGA championship, and 1970 leading money winner Trevino simply are taking some time off.

But they're about the only major names missing from the field that usually is one of the toughest of the year.

It's so strong, in fact, that 56 of last year's top 60 money winners showed up; there are 78 former tournament champions and the field had to be expanded from the usual 144 to 156 to accommodate all the exempt players and allow for eight spots for the qualifiers.

Nicklaus, who won his 11th major championship in the PGA, Palmer and Player still rank as the men to beat, though Nicklaus pointed out:

"It's very difficult to win two in a row, to keep your game and your mental attitude at a peak for two consecutive weeks."

The 41-year-old Palmer, grimly determined to retain his role as the game's premier performer, was disappointed in his showing last week when he finished in a tie for 18th.

"But I'm determined to keep on trying," he said. "I know I can still win, I'm working very hard on my game."

West Hurt As Lakers Top Buffalo

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Injury-jinxed Jerry West has been struck down again and it could mean big trouble for the Los Angeles Lakers.

West, whose brilliant National Basketball Association career has been dotted with a long string of disabling injuries suffered torn right knee ligaments Tuesday night in LA's 131-118 victory over Buffalo.

Elsewhere, New York took Baltimore 109-95, San Diego topped Philadelphia 114-103, Detroit whipped Portland 128-122 and Atlanta downed Seattle 128-116.

In the only ABA game played, Texas edged New York 130-127.

West was lunging for a loose ball late in the first half when he got tangled up with Buffalo's Bob Kauffman and Em Bryant. Kauffman fell across West's leg after colliding with Bryant.

The Laker superstar was examined by Stephen Joyce, the Buffalo club physician, who diagnosed the torn ligaments. West returned to Los Angeles today for examination by Dr. Robert Kerlan, the Lakers' team physician, whose previous celebrated knee cases have included LA stars Wilt Chamberlain and Elgin Baylor.

Gail Goodrich led the Lakers with 30 points while Don May led all scorers, with 40, matching a Buffalo club record.

"We got it together when we had to," he said of the victory that kept the Buckeyes atop the conference with their eighth straight triumph for an 11-1 Big Ten record.

Ohio State can wrap up a title share at Northwestern Saturday night. The Buckeyes, one-and-a-half games ahead of Michigan, finish at home Tuesday night against Indiana.

Luke Witte's 26 points and career high 20 rebounds kept Ohio State chugging along in first place. The 7-foot sophomore didn't care for his performance, however.

"I've had a lot better games this year," the towering blond said.

Minnesota chopped a 62-40 Buckeye lead to 77-70 with less than two minutes to play. Witte was instrumental in cutting short the Gopher rally.

His five foul shots — he hit 12 of 15 free throws — in the last 72 seconds sent the Gophers down to their eighth loss in 12 Big Ten games. Ohio State is 17-5 and Minnesota 10-12 overall.

Allan Hornyak scored 14 of his 22 points in the first half as the Bucks took a 44-33 lead. Jim Clemons played the last 34 minutes and scored 14 points.

"I was surprised Clemons could do so well. He said he has no pain in the injured area now. We'll take more percutaneous X-rays of the wrist Wednesday," Taylor said. Clemons has a bad sprain of his left wrist.

"He should be full go by Saturday," said Taylor.

George Hanson, whose Gophers have lost twice to Ohio State, is impressed with the Big Ten leaders.

"Each time they look better. The big man inside (Witte) and such fine guards are the big things going for them. Clemons certainly is a steady influence. I think the world of him," Hanson said.

Eric Hill led Minnesota scorers with 18 points, Olie Shannon had 15 and Jim Brewer 14 and 15 rebounds.

Elsewhere, Ohio University (16-7) remained a NIT contender, taking over second place in the Mid-American Conference with a 100-70 home triumph over Western Michigan. The loss dropped the Broncos to 5-5 and lifted the Bobcats to 5-4 in the league.

Ken Kowall's 30 points and 69 per cent first-half shooting were the big items behind the lopsided Ohio victory.

Roger Evans' three-point play with 51 seconds to play gave Kent State an 86-85 overtime verdict over Penn State. Evans had a career high 24 points, five behind Ruben Vance.

Penn State had the ball three times after Evans' play, but was charged with offensive fouls twice and missed a shot at the buzzer.

The Cincinnati Bearcats completed their 18th consecutive winning season by whipping Buffalo 86-59. They wound up with a 14-12 season mark.

Derrick Dickey paced Cincinnati with a game-high 23 points, to become the second highest sophomore scorer in school history with a 17.9 average. Oscar Robertson had the top mark with a 35-point average.

Big League Baseball Sets Drug Curbs

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Major league baseball has started to tighten its restrictions on the use of artificial stimulants, including the "greenies" pitcher Chuck Dobson of the Oakland A's recently admitted he had been using.

The first steps of a more stringent policy were formalized here Tuesday when some 35 representatives of nine clubs took part in the first organized drug education program in team sports history.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said after the three-hour session — the first of three seminars to be held for personnel of all major league clubs that the sport had formalized a previous ban on the use of artificial stimulants and discussed accompanying disciplinary action in the event of abuses.

Concurring with recommendations made by the newly formed Association of Professional Baseball Physicians, Kuhn said "there is no place in baseball for the use of or involvement in illegal drug activity."

Kuhn said the use of artificial stimulants or amphetamines, without prescription by a physician, fell into that category. Such stimulants, also called bennies, speed, greenies and various other names are supposed to enable the athlete to perform at his peak capacity.

Dr. Leonard Wallenstein of the Baltimore Orioles, head of the new Physicians association, said such amphetamines "have an adverse effect on the body; one can become a habitue, psychologically dependent on them." He also said improper use "can cause death."

Kuhn, asked about Dobson's statement that he had used greenies, said he could not comment on the situation because he did not know whether or not Dobson had taken them under doctor's orders. But he did say any abuse would be met with disciplinary action.
